NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

A HEAVY snow storm raged over the northern part of Wisconsin yesterday. The Northwest, which has supplied all of our weather since the signal service was established, is already getting its winter factory ready.

THE Maryland Democracy stepped cheerfully upon the platform of 1884 yesterday, in spite of the wrath of Gorman. There are more Bourbons to the square inch in Maryland than in any other state outside of South Carolina.

TWENTY men employed in the West Albany car shops have died and three hundred are prostrated from typhoid pneumonia. The epidemic is attributed to the bad water used at the works. All Albany is alarmed lest it spreads over the city.

NURSE DONNELLY, who received the stab of Mrs. Ray Hamilton's dagger, is to be paid $75 a week as a dime museum freak, while her mistress languishes in prison. Nurse and mistress were "two of a kind," but fortune is as freaky as some people.

"No progress was made yesterday in the Flack case except to go through some formalities," says the Tribune. The indictments were expected yesterday, but there is an evident attempt to drag the case along till the 15th of October. The divorce conspiracy is apparently being supplemented by a political conspiracy, with headquarters at Albany.

ABRAM A. KIMBALL, Mormon Bishop, died yesterday at Kanosh, Utah. He was the husband of five wives, and had done service for the same in state prison. He was the son of the famous Bishop Heber Kimball, whose sermon from the Book of Mormon text, "Men is skeerce and weemin is plenty," was regarded at the time of its delivery as a very extraordinary effort.

MRS. THOMAS WOODS of Fort Wayne, Ind., smashed a costly mirror in one liquor saloon and broke the front windows and mirrors of another with a hammer. She had previously served notice upon the proprietors that they must stop selling liquor to her husband, an ex-County Clerk, but they paid no attention to her orders. Public sentiment is so strong in the energetic lady's favor that the saloon keepers dare not cause her arrest. But in New York Democratic circles she would be regarded as something very inequitable, oppressive and sumptuary.

THE failure to convict Henry S. Ives of stealing a railroad should change the sentiment of contempt towards District Attorney Fellows to one of pity. It has been charged that he was elected to acquit the Broadway franchise boodlers and he has done it according to contract. But there were no politics in the Ives case, and Fellows had a splendid opportunity to make a reputation. His failure proves a most lamentable lack of capacity. Did the New York Democrats, when selecting a District Attorney for the protection of rascals, choose Fellows because he was a rascal or a fool?

WHILE one son of Secretary Blaine was being married at Richfield Springs yesterday under the most delightful circumstances, the deserted wife of another son was receiving a dose of chloroform in order that she might be carried from her physician's residence to the home of her parents without unbearable torture. Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., is dangerously ill of rheumatism in New York. She was engaged in fitting herself for a career on the stage when the dreadful disease attacked her. Her husband has apparently forgotten her and his child, and is trying to learn a mechanical trade in Maine.

SENATOR LINSON and State Committeeman Preston are enlisted in favor of locating the new state prison in Ulster county, provided the one at Sing Sing is abandoned. Sullivan county coveted the prize, but is in serious danger of losing it. The prison should go into the mountains, as Mr. Linson suggests. If the present rate of increase of our convict population continues for a half century or so, the muscle and brawn thus gathered will be sufficient to level the Catskills to a plain, and transform them from a wilderness to a miniature Eden. Now let the Ulster Board of Supervisors join hands with Messrs. Linson and Preston for the acquisition of this great institution, which would add incalculably to the wealth and prosperity of the county.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN is giving sparring exhibitions in New York. We can inform Mr. Sullivan that if he wants to engage in a rattling prize fight with knock-down and blood accompaniments, New York is the only safe place in which he can arrange it. Gov. Hill, according to his friend Collins of Massachusetts, refused to extradite Sullivan to Mississippi until he supposed that he had made a bargain with Gov. Lowry for only a light fine for the bruiser. Our Governor is Sullivan's steadfast and devoted friend and will see him through. By the way, Sullivan is guilty of a crime against the laws of New-York. Why is he permitted to travel over the state without fear of arrest? What would Governor Lowry have done if he had set foot on the soil of Mississippi in the same impudent way?

THE Brooklyn Eagle demands the election of either a New Yorker or Brooklynite to the Court of Appeals. Judge Gray resides in New York, but another member of the court is wanted. The Eagle gives as its reason that of the 1,250 cases before the appellate court, 750 originated in New York and Brooklyn. That is to say, those two cities, paying about one-half the state tax, are creating three-fifths of the business of the court. By and by the interior counties will be admonished again that these cities are supporting their public schools, and threatened with the repeal of the free school laws unless they show more generosity in the support of the canals. As New York and Brooklyn are also furnishing more than two-thirds of the criminal population of the prisons and reformatories, and a majority of the inmates of the state asylums, they appear to be getting even with the interior on the distribution of the state tax, if not a little ahead.

COLLISION ON LONG ISLAND SOUND.

Steamer Providence, of Old Colony Line, Runs Into the Schooner Avis.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 27.—The steamer Providence, of the Old Colony Line, collided last evening with the schooner Avis off Schuyler Light, 25 miles from New-York. The pilot of the steamer claims that the schooner displayed no lights. The schooner struck the steamer head-on, ripping out 60 feet of the main deck guards, with a small portion of the upper part of the hull, about 30 feet of the upper deck guards, and taking out five of the outside state-rooms. The schooner had its wheel head carried away, and is full of water. The Providence came to anchor at once and sent out two boats in which the crew of the schooner were taken off and landed on Hart's Island. Captain Farnsworth, of the schooner, was badly injured by the wheel, his thigh and abdomen being torn open. The Providence made the trip to this port with its side open, the sea having only a slight swell, and the steamer being kept well over to port. The passengers on the starboard side were somewhat frightened but some on the port side did not know of the collision till morning. One stateroom had its floor ripped out and an old lady who occupied the room fell through on her bed to the deck below, landing on some bags uninjured. The damage to the steamer is being repaired.

IN THE L. B. FAULKNER TRIAL TO-DAY.

Some Stories About Burying Bank Books and Raccoon Hunting Told.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BUFFALO, Sept. 27.—In the Faulkner trial to-day further testimony was taken for the defense.

The first witness called was George McLaughlin. He said that at the time of the Bank failure he lived at the house of his step-father, "Lou" Toles. He related the circumstances of removing the Bank books from the Bank to Toles' Hotel at the instigation of James Faulkner, his step-father and John Hyland. He also helped load the books into the wagon when they were removed to Gould's cider mill and a certain carpet was put in the wagon. After that the witness had nothing to do with the books.

Frank Flydie, a native of the town of Ossian, Livingston County, said: "I remember the time of the failure of the Dansville Bank. After the failure of the Bank I saw Comfort Allen pass my house. It was on August 28 or 29, 1887. He had James Faulkner's rig. He was coming from the vicinity from where they say the books were buried in the stubble pasture. I remember the date because my father-in-law was buried on Saturday after the failure of the Dansville Bank, and it was the next Monday morning I saw Comfort go by my place. It was very early in the morning, and I thought it strange at the time."

Charles Bacon, an ex-Justice of the Peace and Supervisor of Swains, said: "I visited my brother, Dr. Bacon, on the first Sunday in 1887, in Canaseraga. I saw Lester B. Faulkner at my brother's house. I paid Mr. Faulkner some money for flour and ordered some more. They invited me to go 'coon hunting with them. General Faulkner was with us all that afternoon and evening."

Dr. A. Bacon, of Canaseraga, said: "I live in one of General Faulkner's houses near the village, and close to Faulkner's flour mill on the creek. While General Faulkner is at the mill he boards at my house. On the afternoon of September 4, 1887, General Lester B. Faulkner, wife and child visited my house. The General and several other gentlemen went 'coon hunting with me that night.

Reported Murder and Arson.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 27.—A report comes here of a fire at Freemansburg, St. Lawrence County, on Wednesday night, in which a man by the name of Carl lost his life. The house was a poor one and Carl was an elderly man, a Scotchman by birth, who had accumulated some little money and was to start for his old home in Scotland in a few days. It is suspected that some one knew of the old man living alone and that he had money by him, and was robbed and the house burned to hide the crime. Whether this story will hold water or not remains to be seen, but that the house burned and that Carl was burned with it is certain. The house belonged to David Knapp.

A Justice Subdues an Amazon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Wednesday evening Mrs. Annie Costello, a woman of Amazonian proportions, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. The hearing took place yesterday. As Justice Davis turned to pick up a paper the defendant sprang at his throat. Mr. Davis is 65 years old and the frenzied woman brought him to the floor with sufficient force to cut a gash in his head. Mrs. Costello held on to his throat despite the efforts of the officers in attendance and there was a severe struggle. Finally the Justice secured a cane and struck his assailant several times over the head, inflicting severe cuts. She was then secured and locked up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The International Socialistic Labor Convention, with delegates from every state and territory, will convene here to-morrow and hold a four days' session. It will be the first National Convention of the organization in five years. The agitation and public excitement following the arrest, trial and execution of the Anarchists prevented the movement from culminating last year.

PATRIARCHS MILITANT MEETING.

Rain Interfered with Odd Fellows' Display at Binghamton To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BINGHAMTON, Sept. 27.—The annual cantonment and field day of the Patriarchs Militant in this City is not the success it would have been had favorable weather prevailed. Only about two-thirds of the Chevaliers present took part in the parade because of the rain. Last evening Canton Buffalo, of Buffalo, gave an exhibition drill in the State Armory. The intricate maneuvres, executed almost faultlessly, elicited the most cordial applause from the throng that crowded the Armory. During the evening a banquet was enjoyed at one of the hotels. Eloquent responses to appropriate toasts were made by distinguished Odd Fellows. At the residence of Judge Frank Downs a handsome silk banner was presented by Hon. Elliot Danforth to Canton Danforth, of Syracuse. This afternoon there was an exhibition drill. The decoration of Chivalry will be conferred upon Colonel Noble F. Martin of Utica, by Deputy State Treasurer Danforth, of Bainbridge. General Woodward has appointed the following Committee to select the place in which the next annual Cantonment and field day will be held: Colonel Noble F. Martin, of Utica; Colonel Henry J. Coggshall, of Waterville; Lieutenant-Colonel Charles E. Wardwell, of Rome; Captain George W. Shall, of Little Falls. The place will probably be Montreal.

Man and Wife Murdered.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 27.—A. L. Brumfield, a newly-married man, living on Guyandotte Creek, Lincoln County, with his wife, went to spend a day with the latter's parents this week. At dusk, when near their home on their return, Brumfield and his wife were fired upon by a man who sprang from a clump of bushes by the roadside. Mrs. Brumfield was shot in the head and fell to the ground unconscious. Her husband was shot in the right lung, but managed to crawl to a neighbor's house for assistance. The nearest physician, who lived 24 miles away, was summoned, but arrived too late to render Mrs. Brumfield any assistance and she died in a few hours. Brumfield is dying. He claims to have recognized the assassin, but refuses to say who he was. It is believed a former suitor of Mrs. Brumfield was the murderer.

A Mania For Using Matches.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Siler went to work yesterday leaving her four children at home. One of the children, a three-year-old boy, has a mania for using matches and setting fire to everything that can be ignited. Yesterday he set fire to his baby sister's clothing and held a blazing paper to the infant's face, burning it so horribly that it died. When a crowd had gathered in the house, after the infant's death, the youngster tried to set fire to the clothing of a neighbor's little girl, and was only prevented by force.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Leonzo Hayes, who was stabbed by David Boyd in Mexico, on September 14, and who went to his home in Little Falls, died there yesterday afternoon from his wounds. Boyd was arrested this morning in Mexico on a charge of murder in the first degree and brought to this City. He waived examination and was committed to jail. Drs. A DECLINE IN SUGAR CERTIFICATES.

Some of the Holders Thereof will go Home To-night Bankrupt.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 27.—Holders of sugar trust certificates were filled with dismay at the course of their securities in the stock market to-day, and there is little doubt that many of them will go home bankrupt at the close of the market for in the two hours following the opening of the Exchange $4,000,000 of the market value of their securities had been wiped out. Sugar opened at 95, against 93 last night, and in the face of a strong market steadily dropped to 87⅝. It is the old story of "too much water." The heavy drop in sugar affected the general stock list. Manhattan lost 2¼, Jersey Central 2, Lead Trust and Cotton Oil each 1½, New-England 1½, Chicago Gas 1⅝, Rock Island and Union Pacific each 1⅝, Missouri Pacific 1½, Chicago Gas 1⅝, North-western 1¼, Western Union 1 and Tennessee Coal and Delaware & Hudson 2 per cent. each. Toward 2 P. M. a better feeling was developed, the decline was checked and a rally began which carried sugar back to 90 and Atchison to 36¼. The rest of the list rose in proportion and at 2:15 the market was firm.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—A. B. The families average five members, and each will take up 100 acres of unoccupied State land. They are expected to arrive next May. A third colony may be established in the neighborhood of Corinth and Vershire in Orange County.

Thomas A. Edison Again Honored.

By Cable to The Freeman.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The Grand Cross of a Commander of the Legion of Honor has been bestowed upon Thomas A. Edison. M. Spuller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in conferring the decoration upon Mr. Edison, said it was given in honor of the services rendered by him to science and for the part taken by him in the Paris Exposition. Mr. Spuller also said America was splendidly represented at the Exposition, and that the presence of its exhibits testified to the indissoluble bonds which bind France and America together.

Danger of Another Slide.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—Another fissure is visible in the overhanging rocks and the cliff is somewhat bulged out. The Kiosk at the end of Dufferin Terrace is also inclining over gradually. It is the general opinion that a few more days of rain or a night's frost will cause a second landslide. Notwithstanding this the City authorities are having a roadway built over the fallen rocks as if there were no danger.

A Jail Delivery.

A Mysterious Shooting in Detroit.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DETROIT, Sept. 27.—George Munson, a faro dealer, was shot by an unknown man and fatally wounded last night in Public Library Park. The case is a mysterious one, but the police theory is that Munson fired a shot at his wife, whom he found in company with a man, and was in turn shot by the man.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 27.—The stock market opened with a spurt this morning and a large business was done in the active list among which Missouri Pacific, Erie, Union Pacific and Western Union were most conspicuous. The strength in the early dealings was most pronounced and material improvement was made all over the list, Missouri Pacific took the lead and opening at 75½ it rose to 76⅝, a net advance of 1⅝ from its last night's price. Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago & St. Louis rose 1¾ to 74⅞, Lackawanna 1 and others large fractions. Manhattan continued its yesterday's advance and reached 101, a net gain of 2¼.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

A HEAVY snow storm raged over the northern part of Wisconsin yesterday. The Northwest, which has supplied all of our weather since the signal service was established, is already getting its winter factory ready.

THE Maryland Democracy stepped cheerfully upon the platform of 1884 yesterday, in spite of the wrath of Gorman. There are more Bourbons to the square inch in Maryland than in any other state outside of South Carolina.

TWENTY men employed in the West Albany car shops have died and three hundred are prostrated from typhoid pneumonia. The epidemic is attributed to the bad water used at the works. All Albany is alarmed lest it spreads over the city.

NURSE DONNELLY, who received the stab of Mrs. Ray Hamilton's dagger, is to be paid $75 a week as a dime museum freak, while her mistress languishes in prison. Nurse and mistress were "two of a kind," but fortune is as freaky as some people.

"No progress was made yesterday in the Flack case except to go through some formalities," says the Tribune. The indictments were expected yesterday, but there is an evident attempt to drag the case along till the 15th of October. The divorce conspiracy is apparently being supplemented by a political conspiracy, with headquarters at Albany.

ABRAM A. KIMBALL, Mormon Bishop, died yesterday at Kanosh, Utah. He was the husband of five wives, and had done service for the same in state prison. He was the son of the famous Bishop Heber Kimball, whose sermon from the Book of Mormon text, "Men is skeerce and weemin is plenty," was regarded at the time of its delivery as a very extraordinary effort.

MRS. THOMAS WOODS of Fort Wayne, Ind., smashed a costly mirror in one liquor saloon and broke the front windows and mirrors of another with a hammer. She had previously served notice upon the proprietors that they must stop selling liquor to her husband, an ex-County Clerk, but they paid no attention to her orders. Public sentiment is so strong in the energetic lady's favor that the saloon keepers dare not cause her arrest. But in New York Democratic circles she would be regarded as something very inequitable, oppressive and sumptuary.

THE failure to convict Henry S. Ives of stealing a railroad should change the sentiment of contempt towards District Attorney Fellows to one of pity. It has been charged that he was elected to acquit the Broadway franchise boodlers and he has done it according to contract. But there were no politics in the Ives case, and Fellows had a splendid opportunity to make a reputation. His failure proves a most lamentable lack of capacity. Did the New York Democrats, when selecting a District Attorney for the protection of rascals, choose Fellows because he was a rascal or a fool?

WHILE one son of Secretary Blaine was being married at Richfield Springs yesterday under the most delightful circumstances, the deserted wife of another son was receiving a dose of chloroform in order that she might be carried from her physician's residence to the home of her parents without unbearable torture. Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., is dangerously ill of rheumatism in New York. She was engaged in fitting herself for a career on the stage when the dreadful disease attacked her. Her husband has apparently forgotten her and his child, and is trying to learn a mechanical trade in Maine.

SENATOR LINSON and State Committeeman Preston are enlisted in favor of locating the new state prison in Ulster county, provided the one at Sing Sing is abandoned. Sullivan county coveted the prize, but is in serious danger of losing it. The prison should go into the mountains, as Mr. Linson suggests. If the present rate of increase of our convict population continues for a half century or so, the muscle and brawn thus gathered will be sufficient to level the Catskills to a plain, and transform them from a wilderness to a miniature Eden. Now let the Ulster Board of Supervisors join hands with Messrs. Linson and Preston for the acquisition of this great institution, which would add incalculably to the wealth and prosperity of the county.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN is giving sparring exhibitions in New York. We can inform Mr. Sullivan that if he wants to engage in a rattling prize fight with knock-down and blood accompaniments, New York is the only safe place in which he can arrange it. Gov. Hill, according to his friend Collins of Massachusetts, refused to extradite Sullivan to Mississippi until he supposed that he had made a bargain with Gov. Lowry for only a light fine for the bruiser. Our Governor is Sullivan's steadfast and devoted friend and will see him through. By the way, Sullivan is guilty of a crime against the laws of New-York. Why is he permitted to travel over the state without fear of arrest? What would Governor Lowry have done if he had set foot on the soil of Mississippi in the same impudent way?

THE Brooklyn Eagle demands the election of either a New Yorker or Brooklynite to the Court of Appeals. Judge Gray resides in New York, but another member of the court is wanted. The Eagle gives as its reason that of the 1,250 cases before the appellate court, 750 originated in New York and Brooklyn. That is to say, those two cities, paying about one-half the state tax, are creating three-fifths of the business of the court. By and by the interior counties will be admonished again that these cities are supporting their public schools, and threatened with the repeal of the free school laws unless they show more generosity in the support of the canals. As New York and Brooklyn are also furnishing more than two-thirds of the criminal population of the prisons and reformatories, and a majority of the inmates of the state asylums, they appear to be getting even with the interior on the distribution of the state tax, if not a little ahead.

COLLISION ON LONG ISLAND SOUND.

Steamer Providence, of Old Colony Line, Runs Into the Schooner Avis.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 27.—The steamer Providence, of the Old Colony Line, collided last evening with the schooner Avis off Schuyler Light, 25 miles from New-York. The pilot of the steamer claims that the schooner displayed no lights. The schooner struck the steamer head-on, ripping out 60 feet of the main deck guards, with a small portion of the upper part of the hull, about 30 feet of the upper deck guards, and taking out five of the outside state-rooms. The schooner had its wheel head carried away, and is full of water. The Providence came to anchor at once and sent out two boats in which the crew of the schooner were taken off and landed on Hart's Island. Captain Farnsworth, of the schooner, was badly injured by the wheel, his thigh and abdomen being torn open. The Providence made the trip to this port with its side open, the sea having only a slight swell, and the steamer being kept well over to port. The passengers on the starboard side were somewhat frightened but some on the port side did not know of the collision till morning. One stateroom had its floor ripped out and an old lady who occupied the room fell through on her bed to the deck below, landing on some bags uninjured. The damage to the steamer is being repaired.

IN THE L. B. FAULKNER TRIAL TO-DAY.

Some Stories About Burying Bank Books and Raccoon Hunting Told.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BUFFALO, Sept. 27.—In the Faulkner trial to-day further testimony was taken for the defense.

The first witness called was George McLaughlin. He said that at the time of the Bank failure he lived at the house of his step-father, "Lou" Toles. He related the circumstances of removing the Bank books from the Bank to Toles' Hotel at the instigation of James Faulkner, his step-father and John Hyland. He also helped load the books into the wagon when they were removed to Gould's cider mill and a certain carpet was put in the wagon. After that the witness had nothing to do with the books.

Frank Flydie, a native of the town of Ossian, Livingston County, said: "I remember the time of the failure of the Dansville Bank. After the failure of the Bank I saw Comfort Allen pass my house. It was on August 28 or 29, 1887. He had James Faulkner's rig. He was coming from the vicinity from where they say the books were buried in the stubble pasture. I remember the date because my father-in-law was buried on Saturday after the failure of the Dansville Bank, and it was the next Monday morning I saw Comfort go by my place. It was very early in the morning, and I thought it strange at the time."

Charles Bacon, an ex-Justice of the Peace and Supervisor of Swains, said: "I visited my brother, Dr. Bacon, on the first Sunday in 1887, in Canaseraga. I saw Lester B. Faulkner at my brother's house. I paid Mr. Faulkner some money for flour and ordered some more. They invited me to go 'coon hunting with them. General Faulkner was with us all that afternoon and evening."

Dr. A. Bacon, of Canaseraga, said: "I live in one of General Faulkner's houses near the village, and close to Faulkner's flour mill on the creek. While General Faulkner is at the mill he boards at my house. On the afternoon of September 4, 1887, General Lester B. Faulkner, wife and child visited my house. The General and several other gentlemen went 'coon hunting with me that night.

Reported Murder and Arson.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 27.—A report comes here of a fire at Freemansburg, St. Lawrence County, on Wednesday night, in which a man by the name of Carl lost his life. The house was a poor one and Carl was an elderly man, a Scotchman by birth, who had accumulated some little money and was to start for his old home in Scotland in a few days. It is suspected that some one knew of the old man living alone and that he had money by him, and was robbed and the house burned to hide the crime. Whether this story will hold water or not remains to be seen, but that the house burned and that Carl was burned with it is certain. The house belonged to David Knapp.

A Justice Subdues an Amazon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Wednesday evening Mrs. Annie Costello, a woman of Amazonian proportions, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. The hearing took place yesterday. As Justice Davis turned to pick up a paper the defendant sprang at his throat. Mr. Davis is 65 years old and the frenzied woman brought him to the floor with sufficient force to cut a gash in his head. Mrs. Costello held on to his throat despite the efforts of the officers in attendance and there was a severe struggle. Finally the Justice secured a cane and struck his assailant several times over the head, inflicting severe cuts. She was then secured and locked up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The International Socialistic Labor Convention, with delegates from every state and territory, will convene here to-morrow and hold a four days' session. It will be the first National Convention of the organization in five years. The agitation and public excitement following the arrest, trial and execution of the Anarchists prevented the movement from culminating last year.

PATRIARCHS MILITANT MEETING.

Rain Interfered with Odd Fellows' Display at Binghamton To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BINGHAMTON, Sept. 27.—The annual cantonment and field day of the Patriarchs Militant in this City is not the success it would have been had favorable weather prevailed. Only about two-thirds of the Chevaliers present took part in the parade because of the rain. Last evening Canton Buffalo, of Buffalo, gave an exhibition drill in the State Armory. The intricate manœuvres, executed almost faultlessly, elicited the most cordial applause from the throng that crowded the Armory. During the evening a banquet was enjoyed at one of the hotels. Eloquent responses to appropriate toasts were made by distinguished Odd Fellows. At the residence of Judge Frank Downs a handsome silk banner was presented by Hon. Elliot Danforth to Canton Danforth, of Syracuse. This afternoon there was an exhibition drill. The decoration of Chivalry will be conferred upon Colonel Noble F. Martin of Utica, by Deputy State Treasurer Danforth, of Bainbridge. General Woodward has appointed the following Committee to select the place in which the next annual Cantonment and field day will be held: Colonel Noble F. Martin, of Utica; Colonel Henry J. Coggshall, of Waterville; Lieutenant-Colonel Charles E. Wardwell, of Rome; Captain George W. Shall, of Little Falls. The place will probably be Montreal.

Man and Wife Murdered.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 27.—A. L. Brumfield, a newly-married man, living on Guyandotte Creek, Lincoln County, with his wife, went to spend a day with the latter's parents this week. At dusk, when near their home on their return, Brumfield and his wife were fired upon by a man who sprang from a clump of bushes by the roadside. Mrs. Brumfield was shot in the head and fell to the ground unconscious. Her husband was shot in the right lung, but managed to crawl to a neighbor's house for assistance. The nearest physician, who lived 24 miles away, was summoned, but arrived too late to render Mrs. Brumfield any assistance and she died in a few hours. Brumfield is dying. He claims to have recognized the assassin, but refuses to say who he was. It is believed a former suitor of Mrs. Brumfield was the murderer.

A Mania For Using Matches.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Siler went to work yesterday leaving her four children at home. One of the children, a three-year-old boy, has a mania for using matches and setting fire to everything that can be ignited. Yesterday he set fire to his baby sister's clothing and held a blazing paper to the infant's face, burning it so horribly that it died. When a crowd had gathered in the house, after the infant's death, the youngster tried to set fire to the clothing of a neighbor's little girl, and was only prevented by force.

Murder in the First Degree.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Leonzo Hayes, who was stabbed by David Boyd in Mexico, on September 14, and who went to his home in Little Falls, died there yesterday afternoon from his wounds. Boyd was arrested this morning in Mexico on a charge of murder in the first degree and brought to this City. He waived examination and was committed to jail. Drs. Coe and Bulger, of this City, went to Little Falls this morning to hold an autopsy. District Attorney Stowell is in Little Falls.

A DECLINE IN SUGAR CERTIFICATES.

Some of the Holders Thereof will go Home To-night Bankrupt.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 27.—Holders of sugar trust certificates were filled with dismay at the course of their securities in the stock market to-day, and there is little doubt that many of them will go home bankrupt at the close of the market for in the two hours following the opening of the Exchange $4,000,000 of the market value of their securities had been wiped out. Sugar opened at 95, against 96 last night, and in the face of a strong market steadily dropped to 87⅞. It is the old story of "too much water." The heavy drop in sugar affected the general stock list. Manhattan lost 2¼, Jersey Central 2, Lead Trust and Cotton Oil each 1¼, New-England 1¼, Chicago Gas 1⅝, Rock Island and Union Pacific each 1⅝, Missouri Pacific 1¼, Chicago Gas 1⅝, North-western 1¼, Western Union 1 and Tennessee Coal and Delaware & Hudson 2 per cent. each. Toward 2 P. M. a better feeling was developed, the decline was checked and a rally began which carried sugar back to 90 and Atchison to 36¼. The rest of the list rose in proportion and at 2:15 the market was firm.

The families average five members, and each will take up 100 acres of unoccupied State land. They are expected to arrive next May. A third colony may be established in the neighborhood of Corinth and Vershire in Orange County.

Thomas A. Edison Again Honored.

By Cable to The Freeman.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The Grand Cross of a Commander of the Legion of Honor has been bestowed upon Thomas A. Edison. M. Spuller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in conferring the decoration upon Mr. Edison, said it was given in honor of the services rendered by him to science and for the part taken by him in the Paris Exposition. Mr. Spuller also said America was splendidly represented at the Exposition, and that the presence of its exhibits testified to the indissoluble bonds which bind France and America together.

Danger of Another Slide.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

QUEBEC, Sept. 27.—Another fissure is visible in the overhanging rocks and the cliff is somewhat bulged out. The Kiosk at the end of Dufferin Terrace is also inclining over gradually. It is the general opinion that a few more days of rain or a night's frost will cause a second landslide. Notwithstanding this the City authorities are having a roadway built over the fallen rocks as if there were no danger.

A Mysterious Shooting in Detroit.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DETROIT, Sept. 27.—George Munson, a faro dealer, was shot by an unknown man and fatally wounded last night in Public Library Park. The case is a mysterious one, but the police theory is that Munson fired a shot at his wife, whom he found in company with a man, and was in turn shot by the man.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

A HEAVY snow storm raged over the northern part of Wisconsin yesterday. The Northwest, which has supplied all of our weather since the signal service was established, is already getting its winter factory ready.

THE Maryland Democracy stepped cheerfully upon the platform of 1884 yesterday, in spite of the wrath of Gorman. There are more Bourbons to the square inch in Maryland than in any other state outside of South Carolina.

TWENTY men employed in the West Albany car shops have died and three hundred are prostrated from typhoid pneumonia. The epidemic is attributed to the bad water used at the works. All Albany is alarmed lest it spreads over the city.

NURSE DONNELLY, who received the stab of Mrs. Ray Hamilton's dagger, is to be paid $75 a week as a dime museum freak, while her mistress languishes in prison. Nurse and mistress were "two of a kind," but fortune is as freaky as some people.

"No progress was made yesterday in the Flack case except to go through some formalities," says the Tribune. The indictments were expected yesterday, but there is an evident attempt to drag the case along till the 15th of October. The divorce conspiracy is apparently being supplemented by a political conspiracy, with headquarters at Albany.

ABRAM A. KIMBALL, Mormon Bishop, died yesterday at Kanosb, Utah. He was the husband of five wives, and had done service for the same in state prison. He was the son of the famous Bishop Heber Kimball, whose sermon from the Book of Mormon text, "Men is skeerce and weemin is plenty," was regarded at the time of its delivery as a very extraordinary effort.

MRS. THOMAS WOODS of Fort Wayne, Ind., smashed a costly mirror in one liquor saloon and broke the front windows and mirrors of another with a hammer. She had previously served notice upon the proprietors that they must stop selling liquor to her husband, an ex-County Clerk, but they paid no attention to her orders. Public sentiment is so strong in the energetic lady's favor that the saloon keepers dare not cause her arrest. But in New York Democratic circles she would be regarded as something very inequitable, oppressive and sumptuary.

THE failure to convict Henry S. Ives of stealing a railroad should change the sentiment of contempt towards District Attorney Fellows to one of pity. It has been charged that he was elected to acquit the Broadway franchise boodlers and he has done it according to contract. But there were no politics in the Ives case, and Fellows had a splendid opportunity to make a reputation. His failure proves a most lamentable lack of capacity. Did the New York Democrats, when selecting a District Attorney for the protection of rascals, choose Fellows because he was a rascal or a fool?

WHILE one son of Secretary Blaine was being married at Richfield Springs yesterday under the most delightful circumstances, the deserted wife of another son was receiving a dose of chloroform in order that she might be carried from her physician's residence to the home of her parents without unbearable torture. Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., is dangerously ill of rheumatism in New York. She was engaged in fitting herself for a career on the stage when the dreadful disease attacked her. Her husband has apparently forgotten her and his child, and is trying to learn a mechanical trade in Maine.

SENATOR LINSON and State Committeeman Preston are enlisted in favor of locating the new state prison in Ulster county, provided the one at Sing Sing is abandoned. Sullivan county coveted the prize, but is in serious danger of losing it. The prison should go into the mountains, as Mr. Linson suggests. If the present rate of increase of our convict population continues for a half century or so, the muscle and brawn thus gathered will be sufficient to level the Catskills to a plain, and transform them from a wilderness to a miniature Eden. Now let the Ulster Board of Supervisors join hands with Messrs. Linson and Preston for the acquisition of this great institution, which would add incalculably to the wealth and prosperity of the county.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN is giving sparring exhibitions in New York. We can inform Mr. Sullivan that if he wants to engage in a rattling prize fight with knock-down and blood accompaniments, New York is the only safe place in which he can arrange it. Gov. Hill, according to his friend Collins of Massachusetts, refused to extradite Sullivan to Mississippi until he supposed that he had made a bargain with Gov. Lowry for only a light fine for the bruiser. Our Governor is Sullivan's steadfast and devoted friend and will see him through. By the way, Sullivan is guilty of a crime against the laws of New-York. Why is he permitted to travel over the state without fear of arrest? What would Governor Lowry have done if he had set foot on the soil of Mississippi in the same impudent way?

THE Brooklyn Eagle demands the election of either a New Yorker or Brooklynite to the Court of Appeals. Judge Gray resides in New York, but another member of the court is wanted. The Eagle gives as its reason that of the 1,250 cases before the appellate court, 750 originated in New York and Brooklyn. That is to say, those two cities, paying about one-half the state tax, are creating three-fifths of the business of the court. By and by the interior counties will be admonished again that these cities are supporting their public schools, and threatened with the repeal of the free school laws unless they show more generosity in the support of the canals. As New York and Brooklyn are also furnishing more than two-thirds of the criminal population of the prisons and reformatories, and a majority of the inmates of the state asylums, they appear to be getting even with the interior on the distribution of the state tax, if not a little ahead.

COLLISION ON LONG ISLAND SOUND.

Steamer Providence, of Old Colony Line, Runs Into the Schooner Avis.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 27.—The steamer Providence, of the Old Colony Line, collided last evening with the schooner Avis off Schuyler Light, 25 miles from New-York. The pilot of the steamer claims that the schooner displayed no lights. The schooner struck the steamer head-on, ripping out 60 feet of the main deck guards, with a small portion of the upper part of the hull, about 30 feet of the upper deck guards, and taking out five of the outside state-rooms. The schooner had its wheel head carried away, and is full of water. The Providence came to anchor at once and sent out two boats in which the crew of the schooner were taken off and landed on Hart's Island. Captain Farnsworth, of the schooner, was badly injured by the wheel, his thigh and abdomen being torn open. The Providence made the trip to this port with its side open, the sea having only a slight swell, and the steamer being kept well over to port. The passengers on the starboard side were somewhat frightened but some on the port side did not know of the collision till morning. One stateroom had its floor ripped out and an old lady who occupied the room fell through on her bed to the deck below, landing on some bags uninjured. The damage to the steamer is being repaired.

IN THE L. B. FAULKNER TRIAL TO-DAY.

Some Stories About Burying Bank Books and Raccoon Hunting Told.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BUFFALO, Sept. 27.—In the Faulkner trial to-day further testimony was taken for the defense.

The first witness called was George McLaughlin. He said that at the time of the Bank failure he lived at the house of his step-father, "Lou" Toles. He related the circumstances of removing the Bank books from the Bank to Toles' Hotel at the instigation of James Faulkner, his step-father and John Hyland. He also helped load the books into the wagon when they were removed to Gould's cider mill and a certain carpet was put in the wagon. After that the witness had nothing to do with the books.

Frank Flydie, a native of the town of Ossian, Livingston County, said: "I remember the time of the failure of the Dansville Bank. After the failure of the Bank I saw Comfort Allen pass my house. It was on August 28 or 29, 1887. He had James Faulkner's rig. He was coming from the vicinity from where they say the books were buried in the stubble pasture. I remember the date because my father-in-law was buried on Saturday after the failure of the Dansville Bank, and it was the next Monday morning I saw Comfort go by my place. It was very early in the morning, and I thought it strange at the time."

Charles Bacon, an ex-Justice of the Peace and Supervisor of Swains, said: "I visited my brother, Dr. Bacon, on the first Sunday in 1887, in Canaseraga. I saw Lester B. Faulkner at my brother's house. I paid Mr. Faulkner some money for flour and ordered some more. They invited me to go 'coon hunting with them. General Faulkner was with us all that afternoon and evening."

Dr. A. Bacon, of Canaseraga, said: "I live in one of General Faulkner's houses near the village, and close to Faulkner's flour mill on the creek. While General Faulkner is at the mill he boards at my house. On the afternoon of September 4, 1887, General Lester B. Faulkner, wife and child visited my house. The General and several other gentlemen went 'coon hunting with me that night.

Reported Murder and Arson.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 27.—A report comes here of a fire at Freemansburg, St. Lawrence County, on Wednesday night, in which a man by the name of Carl lost his life. The house was a poor one and Carl was an elderly man, a Scotchman by birth, who had accumulated some little money and was to start for his old home in Scotland in a few days. It is suspected that some one knew of the old man living alone and that he had money by him, and was robbed and the house burned to hide the crime. Whether this story will hold water or not remains to be seen, but that the house burned and that Carl was burned with it is certain. The house belonged to David Knapp.

A Justice Subdues an Amazon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Wednesday evening Mrs. Annie Costello, a woman of Amazonian proportions, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. The hearing took place yesterday. As Justice Davis turned to pick up a paper the defendant sprang at his throat. Mr. Davis is 65 years old and the frenzied woman brought him to the floor with sufficient force to cut a gash in his head. Mrs. Costello held on to his throat despite the efforts of the officers in attendance and there was a severe struggle. Finally the Justice secured a cane and struck his assailant several times over the head, inflicting severe cuts. She was then secured and locked up.

Socialists to Hold a Convention.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The International Socialistic Labor Convention, with delegates from every state and territory, will convene here to-morrow and hold a four days' session. It will be the first National Convention of the organization in five years. The agitation and public excitement following the arrest, trial and execution of the Anarchists prevented the movement from culminating last year.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood Convention.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—The fourth annual Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew began here yesterday with 250 delegates present. William C. Sturgis, of Boston; Henry A. Sill, of New-York; the Rev. Dr. Bates, of Cleveland; W. R. Sterling, of Chicago; J. M. Locke, of Chicago, and William Aikman, Jr., of Detroit, delivered addresses on special topics.

PATRIARCHS MILITANT MEETING.

Rain Interfered with Odd Fellows' Display at Binghamton To-Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BINGHAMTON, Sept. 27.—The annual cantonment and field day of the Patriarchs Militant in this City is not the success it would have been had favorable weather prevailed. Only about two-thirds of the Chevaliers present took part in the parade because of the rain. Last evening Canton Buffalo, of Buffalo, gave an exhibition drill in the State Armory. The intricate maneuvres, executed almost faultlessly, elicited the most cordial applause from the throng that crowded the Armory. During the evening a banquet was enjoyed at one of the hotels. Eloquent responses to appropriate toasts were made by distinguished Odd Fellows. At the residence of Judge Frank Downs a handsome silk banner was presented by Hon. Elliot Danforth to Canton Danforth, of Syracuse. This afternoon there was an exhibition drill. The decoration of Chivalry will be conferred upon Colonel Noble F. Martin of Utica, by Deputy State Treasurer Danforth, of Bainbridge. General Woodward has appointed the following Committee to select the place in which the next annual Cantonment and field day will be held: Colonel Noble F. Martin, of Utica; Colonel Henry J. Coggshall, of Waterville; Lieutenant-Colonel Charles E. Wardwell, of Rome; Captain George W. Shall, of Little Falls. The place will probably be Montreal.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 27.—A. L. Brumfield, a newly-married man, living on Guyandotte Creek, Lincoln County, with his wife, went to spend a day with the latter's parents this week. At dusk, when near their home on their return, Brumfield and his wife were fired upon by a man who sprang from a clump of bushes by the roadside. Mrs. Brumfield was shot in the head and fell to the ground unconscious. Her husband was shot in the right lung, but managed to crawl to a neighbor's house for assistance. The nearest physician, who lived 24 miles away, was summoned, but arrived too late to render Mrs. Brumfield any assistance and she died in a few hours. Brumfield is dying. He claims to have recognized the assassin, but refuses to say who he was. It is believed a former suitor of Mrs. Brumfield was the murderer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Siler went to work yesterday leaving her four children at home. One of the children, a three-year-old boy, has a mania for using matches and setting fire to everything that can be ignited. Yesterday he set fire to his baby sister's clothing and held a blazing paper to the infant's face, burning it so horribly that it died. When a crowd had gathered in the house, after the infant's death, the youngster tried to set fire to the clothing of a neighbor's little girl, and was only prevented by force.

A DECLINE IN SUGAR CERTIFICATES.

Some of the Holders Thereof will go Home To-night Bankrupt.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 27.—Holders of sugar trust certificates were filled with dismay at the course of their securities in the stock market to-day, and there is little doubt that many of them will go home bankrupt at the close of the market for in the two hours following the opening of the Exchange $4,000,000 of the market value of their securities had been wiped out. Sugar opened at 95, against 96 last night, and in the face of a strong market steadily dropped to 87⅝. It is the old story of "too much water." The heavy drop in sugar affected the general stock list. Manhattan lost 2¼, Jersey Central 2, Lead Trust and Cotton Oil each 1½, New-England 1½, Chicago Gas 1⅜, Rock Island and Union Pacific each 1⅜, Missouri Pacific 1½, Chicago Gas 1⅜, North-western 1½, Western Union 1 and Tennessee Coal and Delaware & Hudson 2 per cent. each. Toward 2 P. M. a better feeling was developed, the decline was checked and a rally began which carried sugar back to 90 and Atchison to 36½. The rest of the list rose in proportion and at 2:15 the market was firm.

DEMOCRATIC CONFIDENCE.

The Democratic organs are exhibiting great confidence of success at the coming election, even before their state ticket is nominated. It is not worth while to sneer at this confidence, or treat it as assumed or insincere. It is based on past victories in off years. They are aware that the Republican party has a decisive majority in the state when its full vote is brought out, but they do not look for this full vote except in Presidential years. We carried the state in 1880 and 1888, and came within a few hundred votes of carrying it on a rainy day in 1884, but the Democrats are able to say that in purely state elections we have not carried it since 1883.

Then again, they have found a leader whom they regard as invincible. There is not a Democrat in the state who believes it possible to defeat Gov. Hill when he carries the party banner, as he proposes to do in the present campaign. Mr. Hill has been very successful in taking care of himself, and the party has accordingly surrendered to him, giving him full permission to go ahead and do as he pleases. He will name the entire state ticket and committee next Tuesday. He will take charge of the campaign, including the handling of the funds, for which he no more expects to be called to account than if he were the Shah of Persia. The Democratic intellect is slow to wake up to the idea of crookedness in this autocratic party management, and the leaders who share the profits with the Governor are sure that he can slip through another campaign without being crushed beneath a load of scandal. He has also succeeded in combining all the bad, vicious and criminal elements in the support of the party through his whisky affiliations, and these elements are hard to beat for the reason that they are always in politics, spend money freely, and do not scruple to employ dishonest methods for the swelling of the vote. The Republican party needs to be reminded of these things, in order that it may understand the sources of the enemy's strength and the difficulties that it will have to overcome.

But has not the Republican party equal or greater grounds for confidence also? That depends. There are certainly more voters in the ranks of men who are unwilling to give the state over to the control of the vicious elements than there are among the vicious classes themselves. These people are gradually ranging themselves on the Republican side, though they have not yet combined as solidly as the enemies of society. Will they get together?. They got together last year in sufficient numbers to give Harrison 14,000 plurality and to roll up pluralities of more than 50,000 each for members of Congress and Assembly. Let them understand that the issues this year are of equally vital concern, and they will come to the polls, every one of them, with Republican ballots in their hands.

But we will be beaten if we allow Democratic boasts to intimidate or discourage us. Apathy or lack of confidence never won a victory. The issues are such as ought to enlist the activity and zeal of every voter. Gov. Hill's whole political future is staked on the coming election. If he carries the state ticket and the Legislature he will go into the next national convention with the claim that he has the electoral vote of the state in his pocket. And victory for him will be infinite disaster to the state. It will not make him the next President, but it will put back license reform and ballot reform a dozen years, and reduce the Empire State to the low moral and political condition of Kentucky and Texas.

MORE ABOUT HILL'S ECONOMIES.

The Tribune, in an article which we publish elsewhere, gives Senator Sloan credit for making one of the strongest points against Gov. Hill's pretended economies yet presented, in his speech at the State Convention. If he had really wished to relieve the taxpayers, Mr. Sloan remarked, he would have vetoed the tax-bill, called the Legislature into session again, and told it where and how to economize. Instead of this he allowed the bill fixing the tax-rate at 3.52 mills to become a law. This tax-rate provided for all the appropriations passed by the Legislature. After the tax-rate had been fixed, with the approval of the Governor—after it was known to him and every member of the Legislature that it would require the collection of over $12,000,000 from the people, he cut out something over $1,800,000 from the appropriations, the effect of which will be to create a useless and badly exposed surplus in the Treasury.

The idea, excellent as it is, is not original with Mr. Sloan. As early as July 26th THE FREEMAN said in its leading editorial of that day:

The $1,808,550 will not be saved to the tax-payers. It is in the tax levy and will be collected and turned into the treasury, every dollar of it. If the Governor had really wished to relieve the farmers and other tax-payers of the state, he would have vetoed this tax-levy and told the Legislature to make it $1,800,000 or $2,000,000 less. Then he could have cut out enough items from appropriations to make things even, and there would have been real relief.

On the 12th of August THE FREEMAN reverted to the subject again, in answer to a statement by the Brooklyn Eagle that the tax bill was prepared on the night before adjournment. Here is a part of what this paper said at that date:

"The Governor at this time had all the appropriations before him. It is fair to presume that he had a general idea of the amount that he intended to cut out. If he had vetoed the bill in a message to the Legislature, informing it of his intentions in regard to certain items, and giving it an approximate idea of the amount that it would be necessary to raise, he could have saved to the tax-payers the $1,800,000 that must now remain in the Treasury a year as surplusage, subject to demands which do not always wait for the action of the Legislature, as the history of the furnishing of the executive mansion proves. In the same message he could have called the Legislature into extra session long enough to revise the tax-rate without involving the state in large expense, for the members were all in Albany and could have assembled and transacted the necessary business in half a day. In this way the Governor could have commended himself to the tax-payers as a sincere friend of their interests, for the items that he has vetoed would then have been left in their pockets. Now the full amount will be collected, and the people are uneasy over the possibility of its being misappropriated, squandered and stolen.

It is to the credit of Senator Sloan that he is a faithful reader of THE FREEMAN. He was wise in preserving this important point to be presented to the state convention, whence it will be carried broadcast to all the tax-payers of the state. If Gov. Hill had had an honest purpose in view, he would have said to the Legislature: "This tax is more than the people can bear; put your tax rate where it was last year, and I will shape the appropriations to meet it." It could all have been done in half a day if he had found it necessary to call the Legislature into extra session. And there would not then have been left in the treasury a surplus of the people's money for Democratic manipulation.

It is this fact that causes popular anxiety. The people would not object seriously to the extra taxation if it were allowed to go to the payment of honest debts as the Legislature intended, and which debts must be paid sooner or later with accumulated interest and some with costs of litigation. Neither would they feel that there was any great wrong in the matter if they felt sure that the money would be safe till the Legislature meets again, and thus be used to reduce their taxes another year. But the whole history of the Democratic party proves that it is not a safe and honest custodian of the people's money. During Hoffman's administration $15,000,000 raised for the payment of the bounty debt was devoted to purposes wholly partisan or personal by Democratic officials and never accounted for. Two years ago Gov. Hill took $17,000 appropriated for other objects and filled the executive mansion with needless and costly articles of luxury and amusement. And last year Comptroller Wemple allowed Snaith, the ceiling contractor, to overdraw his account $15,000. Gov. Hill has not saved any money to the people by his vetoes, but he has given the Democratic gang at the Capitol a big opportunity to steal—an opportunity, by the way, that was never yet neglected.

A HARD NUT TO CRACK.

How the Governor Might Have Relieved the Taxpayers, but Didn't.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Senator Sloan, in his address on taking the chair of the Saratoga Convention, framed a crushing indictment of the policy which Governor Hill pursued in reference to the appropriations passed by the last Legislature. No person was better qualified to expose the Governor's false pretenses than Mr. Sloan. He is known all over the state as one of New York's most sagacious and successful business men. In political circles he is rated as one of the most unselfish and trustworthy lawmakers ever sent to Albany. As chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate of 1888-'89 it became his duty to play a prominent part in shaping fiscal measures and seeing them safely through the two houses.

It is this sagacious and faithful legislator, whose vote and influence are always found on the right side, who contends that the Governor's economy in public affairs is of the bogus order. The facts which he marshaled to substantiate this charge cannot be put aside. We advise our Democratic friends in newspaper offices or on the stump not to fool with them, for they are loaded. The point which the Senator made in reference to the Governor's failure to veto the entire supply bill was particularly forcible. Every Democratic organ is engaged these days in printing in big black type the sum total of the items which the Governor killed. Consequently, they are pointing to these figures and remarking to their readers: "You see, Hill's vetoes amount in all to $1,808,550—doesn't that prove that he is a thorough-going economist, an ardent friend of the tax-payers?" Senator Sloan neatly pricks this bubble. Mark how he does it. The tax rate for the year was fixed before the Governor passed upon the Supply bill, so that no matter what he might do with the items of that bill, whether he vetoed them all or approved them all, the rate could not be in the least altered. If the Governor was sincere and earnest in his professions of distinguished consideration for the taxpayers, why did he not veto the Supply bill in its entirety, and then reconvene the Legislature, so as to afford it an opportunity of examining the measure in the light of the vetoes? If the items to which he objected or any of them had been erased the tax rate could have been proportionately reduced. Why did the Governor prevent such a revision? Simbly because, regarded as an economist, he is a fraud. He did not care a straw about bringing down the tax rate. All he desired was to furnish his partisans with some figures which they could juggle with.

Of course this Democratic Hill-and-economy game would not be played so assiduously were it not that the party finds itself this fall destitute of campaign ammunition. "Any port in a storm" is the cry of the Democratic managers. Realizing that they cannot go before the people on the party's record, they have apparently resolved to ignore the record and rely upon false pretenses—and the rum power.

TABOR AND HILL.

A Warning to the Governor Against Renominating an Incompetent and Unfaithful Official.

[From the New York Herald.]

If Governor Hill continues to push the claims of Attorney General Tabor to a renomination, then Governor Hill should be plainly told by the people of this state that they are tired of having their welfare sacrificed in the game of politics.

Governor Hill is the servant, not the master of the people. If he fails to protect them he should be indignantly reprimanded, and if he persists, as he is now doing, he should be told that when his term expires he can trim his lamp to shine in private life.

Tabor wants to continue in office. He looks to Hill for protection and favor. Tabor should be dropped without a moment's debate. He is wholly unfit to be Attorney-General in a state like New York. If he has legal ability he has not used it and should therefore be dropped: if he has no ability, then also he should be dropped.

His conduct in this ceiling scandal is an insult to every right minded man. He had jurisdiction over that infamous contract and he must have known that it covered a steal. He pronounced it all right, and the steal went on.

When public clamor called for justice, Tabor kept still, thinking the storm would blow over and his friends get off scot free. The storm did not blow over, and Tabor saw that his renomination was in peril. The people's interest might go to Ballyhack, but when his own interests were at stake he jumped to the front and proposed to prosecute everybody.

Humbug! Trickery, Tabor. You played the people for fools, and now want them to give you their votes.

Come, Governor Hill, drop that man at once. We don't want any such Attorney General as Tabor. He leans too much toward the gang of thieves. And, Governor, let us whisper in your ear that it is not prudent to insist on having that man on the state ticket.

Not prudent, Governor Hill.

CURRENT HUMOR.

This passage is said to be literatim from the gory Western drama called "Black Hawk." It is called forth by a bar-keeper's refusal to supply the Montana Terror with free alcohol: "You don't know me? You don't know me, I say! I'm Bloody Bill, the Howling Terror! I'm a greased thunderbolt from Hell's Canyon! When I twitter the clouds hide themselves! When I yell the rocks split, the waters stop running and the sun turns back. When I shriek 'Y-e-i-o-u-w,' it rains b-l-u-d!"

Alfred (reading from the latest romance)—"He seized her in his hands and kissed her with frantic abandon. She shivered and writhed in his close embrace, and her breath came in quick knickerbockers. Her eyes—"

Angelina—"One moment please. Knickerbockers?"

Alfred—"A little emendation of my own. The text says, 'Her breath came in quick, short pants.'"

Ethel—"Do you think he loves you, Nellie?"

Nellie—"Oh, I'm certain of it. Why, he wants to marry me so much that he has borrowed money from papa for us to get married on—a thing his proud, sensitive soul could not brook if he did not love me."

He Needed the Nickel—"Please give a poor man 5 cents."

"I'll warrant you'll spend it for liquor."

"Yes, sir, I will. I want to buy a Chicago cocktail."

"Good gracious! That drink cost $2."

"I know it I've got $1.95."

"Sergeant, put Fusilier Greengrass on bread and water for three days, for slackness at drill." "Pardon Captain, he won't mind that; he is a vegetarian." "Then give him blood sausage for three days instead."

THE BEST ADVERTISING.

The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. That is, those who are cured by it, speak to friends suffering similarly, who in turn derive benefit and urge others to try this successful medicine. Thus the circle of its popularity is rapidly widening from this cause alone, and more and more are becoming enthusiastic in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla as it actually demonstrates its absolute merit. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial. If you need a good blood purifier, or building up medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DEMOCRATIC CONFIDENCE.

The Democratic organs are exhibiting great confidence of success at the coming election, even before their state ticket is nominated. It is not worth while to sneer at this confidence, or treat it as assumed or insincere. It is based on past victories in off years. They are aware that the Republican party has a decisive majority in the state when its full vote is brought out, but they do not look for this full vote except in Presidential years. We carried the state in 1880 and 1888, and came within a few hundred votes of carrying it on a rainy day in 1884, but the Democrats are able to say that in purely state elections we have not carried it since 1883.

Then again, they have found a leader whom they regard as invincible. There is not a Democrat in the state who believes it possible to defeat Gov. Hill when he carries the party banner, as he proposes to do in the present campaign. Mr. Hill has been very successful in taking care of himself, and the party has accordingly surrendered to him, giving him full permission to go ahead and do as he pleases. He will name the entire state ticket and committee next Tuesday. He will take charge of the campaign, including the handling of the funds, for which he no more expects to be called to account than if he were the Shah of Persia. The Democratic intellect is slow to wake up to the idea of crookedness in this autocratic party management, and the leaders who share the profits with the Governor are sure that he can slip through another campaign without being crushed beneath a load of scandal. He has also succeeded in combining all the bad, vicious and criminal elements in the support of the party through his whisky affiliations, and these elements are hard to beat for the reason that they are always in politics, spend money freely, and do not scruple to employ dishonest methods for the swelling of the vote. The Republican party needs to be reminded of these things, in order that it may understand the sources of the enemy's strength and the difficulties that it will have to overcome.

But has not the Republican party equal or greater grounds for confidence also? That depends. There are certainly more voters in the ranks of men who are unwilling to give the state over to the control of the vicious elements than there are among the vicious classes themselves. These people are gradually ranging themselves on the Republican side, though they have not yet combined as solidly as the enemies of society. Will they get together?. They got together last year in sufficient numbers to give Harrison 14,000 plurality and to roll up pluralities of more than 50,000 each for members of Congress and Assembly. Let them understand that the issues this year are of equally vital concern, and they will come to the polls, every one of them, with Republican ballots in their hands.

But we will be beaten if we allow Democratic boasts to intimidate or discourage us. Apathy or lack of confidence never won a victory. The issues are such as ought to enlist the activity and zeal of every voter. Gov. Hill's whole political future is staked on the coming election. If he carries the state ticket and the Legislature he will go into the next national convention with the claim that he has the electoral vote of the state in his pocket. And victory for him will be infinite disaster to the state. It will not make him the next President, but it will put back license reform and ballot reform a dozen years, and reduce the Empire State to the low moral and political condition of Kentucky and Texas.

MORE ABOUT HILL'S ECONOMIES.

The Tribune, in an article which we publish elsewhere, gives Senator Sloan credit for making one of the strongest points against Gov. Hill's pretended economies yet presented, in his speech at the State Convention. If he had really wished to relieve the tax-payers, Mr. Sloan remarked, he would have vetoed the tax-bill, called the Legislature into session again, and told it where and how to economize. Instead of this he allowed the bill fixing the tax-rate at 3.52 mills to become a law. This tax-rate provided for all the appropriations passed by the Legislature. After the tax-rate had been fixed, with the approval of the Governor—after it was known to him and every member of the Legislature that it would require the collection of over $12,000,000 from the people, he cut out something over $1,800,000 from the appropriations, the effect of which will be to create a useless and badly exposed surplus in the Treasury.

The idea, excellent as it is, is not original with Mr. Sloan. As early as July 26th THE FREEMAN said in its leading editorial of that day:

> The $1,808,550 will not be saved to the tax-payers. It is in the tax levy and will be collected and turned into the treasury, every dollar of it. If the Governor had really wished to relieve the farmers and other tax-payers of the state, he would have vetoed this tax-levy and told the Legislature to make it $1,800,000 or $2,000,000 less. Then he could have cut out enough items from appropriations to make things even, and there would have been real relief.

On the 12th of August THE FREEMAN reverted to the subject again, in answer to a statement by the Brooklyn Eagle that the tax bill was prepared on the night before adjournment. Here is a part of what this paper said at that date:

> The Governor at this time had all the appropriations before him. It is fair to presume that he had a general idea of the amount that he intended to cut out. If he had vetoed the bill in a message to the Legislature, informing it of his intentions in regard to certain items, and giving it an approximate idea of the amount that it would be necessary to raise, he could have saved to the tax-payers the $1,800,000 that must now remain in the Treasury a year as surplusage, subject to demands which do not always wait for the action of the Legislature, as the history of the furnishing of the executive mansion proves. In the same message he could have called the Legislature into extra session long enough to revise the tax-rate without involving the state in large expense, for the members were all in Albany and could have assembled and transacted the necessary business in half a day. In this way the Governor could have commended himself to the tax-payers as a sincere friend of their interests, for the items that he has vetoed would then have been left in their pockets. Now the full amount will be collected, and the people are uneasy over the possibility of its being misappropriated, squandered and stolen.

It is to the credit of Senator Sloan that he is a faithful reader of THE FREEMAN. He was wise in preserving this important point to be presented to the state convention, whence it will be carried broadcast to all the tax-payers of the state. If Gov. Hill had had an honest purpose in view, he would have said to the Legislature: "This tax is more than the people can bear; put your tax rate where it was last year, and I will shape the appropriations to meet it." It could all have been done in half a day if he had found it necessary to call the Legislature into extra session. And there would not then have been left in the treasury a surplus of the people's money for Democratic manipulation.

It is this fact that causes popular anxiety. The people would not object seriously to the extra taxation if it were allowed to go to the payment of honest debts as the Legislature intended, and which debts must be paid sooner or later with accumulated interest and some with costs of litigation. Neither would they feel that there was any great wrong in the matter if they felt sure that the money would be safe till the Legislature meets again, and thus be used to reduce their taxes another year. But the whole history of the Democratic party proves that it is not a safe and honest custodian of the people's money. During Hoffman's administration $15,000,000 raised for the payment of the bounty debt was devoted to purposes wholly partisan or personal by Democratic officials and never accounted for. Two years ago Gov. Hill took $17,000 appropriated for other objects and filled the executive mansion with needless and costly articles of luxury and amusement. And last year Comptroller Wemple allowed Snaith, the ceiling contractor, to overdraw his account $15,000. Gov. Hill has not saved any money to the people by his vetoes, but he has given the Democratic gang at the Capitol a big opportunity to steal—an opportunity, by the way, that was never yet neglected.

A HARD NUT TO CRACK.

How the Governor Might Have Relieved the Taxpayers, but Didn't.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Senator Sloan, in his address on taking the chair of the Saratoga Convention, framed a crushing indictment of the policy which Governor Hill pursued in reference to the appropriations passed by the last Legislature. No person was better qualified to expose the Governor's false pretenses than Mr. Sloan. He is known all over the state as one of New York's most sagacious and successful business men. In political circles he is rated as one of the most unselfish and trustworthy lawmakers ever sent to Albany. As chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate of 1888-'89 it became his duty to play a prominent part in shaping fiscal measures and seeing them safely through the two houses.

It is this sagacious and faithful legislator, whose vote and influence are always found on the right side, who contends that the Governor's economy in public affairs is of the bogus order. The facts which he marshaled to substantiate this charge cannot be put aside. We advise our Democratic friends in newspaper offices or on the stump not to fool with them, for they are loaded. The point which the Senator made in reference to the Governor's failure to veto the entire supply bill was particularly forcible. Every Democratic organ is engaged these days in printing in big black type the sum total of the items which the Governor killed. Consequently, they are pointing to these figures and remarking to their readers: "You see, Hill's vetoes amount in all to $1,808,550—doesn't that prove that he is a thorough-going economist, an ardent friend of the tax-payers ?" Senator Sloan neatly pricks this bubble. Mark how he does it. The tax rate for the year was fixed before the Governor passed upon the Supply bill, so that no matter what he might do with the items of that bill, whether he vetoed them all or approved them all, the rate could not be in the least altered. If the Governor was sincere and earnest in his professions of distinguished consideration for the tax-payers, why did he not veto the Supply bill in its entirety, and then reconvene the Legislature, so as to afford it an opportunity of examining the measure in the light of the vetoes? If the items to which he objected or any of them had been erased the tax rate could have been proportionately reduced. Why did the Governor prevent such a revision? Simbly because, regarded as an economist, he is a fraud. He did not care a straw about bringing down the tax rate. All he desired was to furnish his partisans with some figures which they could juggle with.

Of course this Democratic Hill-and-economy game would not be played so assiduously were it not that the party finds itself this fall destitute of campaign ammunition. "Any port in a storm" is the cry of the Democratic managers. Realizing that they cannot go before the people on the party's record, they have apparently resolved to ignore the record and rely upon false pretenses—and the rum power.

TABOR AND HILL.

A Warning to the Governor Against Renominating an Incompetent and Unfaithful Official.

[From the New York Herald.]

If Governor Hill continues to push the claims of Attorney General Tabor to a renomination, then Governor Hill should be plainly told by the people of this state that they are tired of having their welfare sacrificed in the game of politics.

Governor Hill is the servant, not the master of the people. If he fails to protect them he should be indignantly reprimanded, and if he persists, as he is now doing, he should be told that when his term expires he can trim his lamp to shine in private life.

Tabor wants to continue in office. He looks to Hill for protection and favor. Tabor should be dropped without a moment's debate. He is wholly unfit to be Attorney-General in a state like New York. If he has legal ability he has not used it and should therefore be dropped; if he has no ability, then also he should be dropped.

His conduct in this ceiling scandal is an insult to every right minded man. He had jurisdiction over that infamous contract and he must have known that it covered a steal. He pronounced it all right, and the steal went on.

When public clamor called for justice, Tabor kept still, thinking the storm would blow over and his friends get off scot free. The storm did not blow over, and Tabor saw that his renomination was in peril. The people's interest might go to Ballyhack, but when his own interests were at stake he jumped to the front and proposed to prosecute everybody.

Humbug! Trickery, Tabor. You played the people for fools, and now want them to give you their votes.

Come, Governor Hill, drop that man at once. We don't want any such Attorney General as Tabor. He leans too much toward the gang of thieves. And, Governor, let us whisper in your ear that it is not prudent to insist on having that man on the state ticket. Not prudent, Governor Hill.

CURRENT HUMOR.

This passage is said to be literatim from the gory Western drama called "Black Hawk." It is called forth by a bar-keeper's refusal to supply the Montana Terror with free alcohol: "You don't know me ? You don't know me, I say ! I'm Bloody Bill, the Howling Terror ! I'm a greased thunderbolt from Hell's Canyon ! When I twitter the clouds hide themselves ! When I yell the rocks split, the waters stop running and the sun turns back. When I shriek 'Y-e-l-o-u-w,' it rains b-l-u-d!".

Alfred (reading from the latest romance)—"He seized her in his hands and kissed her with frantic abandon. She shivered and writhed in his close embrace, and her breath came in quick knickerbockers. Her eyes—"

Angelina—"One moment please. Knickerbockers ?"

Alfred—"A little emendation of my own. The text says, 'Her breath came in quick, short pants.'"

Ethel—"Do you think he loves you, Nellie ?"

Nellie—"Oh, I'm certain of it. Why, he wants to marry me so much that he has borrowed money from papa for us to get married on—a thing his proud, sensitive soul could not brook if he did not love me."

He Needed the Nickel—"Please give a poor man 5 cents."

"I'll warrant you'll spend it for liquor."

"Yes, sir, I will. I want to buy a Chicago cocktail."

"Good gracious ! That drink cost $2."

"I know it I've got $1.95."

"Sergeant, put Fusilier Greengrass on bread and water for three days, for slackness at drill." "Pardon Captain, he won't mind that; he is a vegetarian." "Then give him blood sausage for three days instead."

A GOOD APPETITE

Is essential to good health; but at this season it is often lost, owing to the poverty or impurity of the blood, derangement of the digestive organs, and the weakening effect of the changing season. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, toning the digestion, and giving strength to the whole system. Now is the time to take it. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla.

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means.

PILES! PILES! ITCHING PILES.

EPOCH.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory, and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50 cents and $1 per bottle, at VanDeusen Brothers', Rondout, and F. J. R. Clarke's, Kingston.

"HACKMETACK," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. Sold by Frederick J. R. Clark.

THE BEST ADVERTISING.

The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. That is, those who are cured by it, speak to friends suffering similarly, who in turn derive benefit and urge others to try this successful medicine. Thus the circle of its popularity is rapidly widening from this cause alone, and more and more are becoming enthusiastic in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla as it actually demonstrates its absolute merit. All that is asked for Hood's Sarsaparilla is that it be given a fair trial. If you need a good blood purifier, or building up medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The rose bud opening to the morn,
While yet the dew hangs on the thorn,
Exhales less sweetness than is wont
To breathe from lips that Sozodont
Has touched with a soft crimson glow
That shows the dazzling teeth off so.

DEMOCRATIC CONFIDENCE.

The Democratic organs are exhibiting great confidence of success at the coming election, even before their state ticket is nominated. It is not worth while to sneer at this confidence, or treat it as assumed or insincere. It is based on past victories in off years. They are aware that the Republican party has a decisive majority in the state when its full vote is brought out, but they do not look for this full vote except in Presidential years. We carried the state in 1880 and 1888, and came within a few hundred votes of carrying it on a rainy day in 1884, but the Democrats are able to say that in purely state elections we have not carried it since 1883.

Then again, they have found a leader whom they regard as invincible. There is not a Democrat in the state who believes it possible to defeat Gov. Hill when he carries the party banner, as he proposes to do in the present campaign. Mr. Hill has been very successful in taking care of himself, and the party has accordingly surrendered to him, giving him full permission to go ahead and do as he pleases. He will name the entire state ticket and committee next Tuesday. He will take charge of the campaign, including the handling of the funds, for which he no more expects to be called to account than if he were the Shah of Persia. The Democratic intellect is slow to wake up to the idea of crookedness in this autocratic party management, and the leaders who share the profits with the Governor are sure that he can slip through another campaign without being crushed beneath a load of scandal. He has also succeeded in combining all the bad, vicious and criminal elements in the support of the party through his whisky affiliations, and these elements are hard to beat for the reason that they are always in politics, spend money freely, and do not scruple to employ dishonest methods for the swelling of the vote. The Republican party needs to be reminded of these things, in order that it may understand the sources of the enemy's strength and the difficulties that it will have to overcome.

But has not the Republican party equal or greater grounds for confidence also? That depends. There are certainly more voters in the ranks of men who are unwilling to give the state over to the control of the vicious elements than there are among the vicious classes themselves. These people are gradually ranging themselves on the Republican side, though they have not yet combined as solidly as the enemies of society. Will they get together?. They got together last year in sufficient numbers to give Harrison 14,000 plurality and to roll up pluralities of more than 50,000 each for members of Congress and Assembly. Let them understand that the issues this year are of equally vital concern, and they will come to the polls, every one of them, with Republican ballots in their hands.

But we will be beaten if we allow Democratic boasts to intimidate or discourage us. Apathy or lack of confidence never won a victory. The issues are such as ought to enlist the activity and zeal of every voter. Gov. Hill's whole political future is staked on the coming election. If he carries the state ticket and the Legislature he will go into the next national convention with the claim that he has the electoral vote of the state in his pocket. And victory for him will be infinite disaster to the state. It will not make him the next President, but it will put back license reform and ballot reform a dozen years, and reduce the Empire State to the low moral and political condition of Kentucky and Texas.

MORE ABOUT HILL'S ECONOMIES.

The Tribune, in an article which we publish elsewhere, gives Senator Sloan credit for making one of the strongest points against Gov. Hill's pretended economies yet presented, in his speech at the State Convention. If he had really wished to relieve the taxpayers, Mr. Sloan remarked, he would have vetoed the tax-bill, called the Legislature into session again, and told it where and how to economize. Instead of this he allowed the bill fixing the tax-rate at 3.52 mills to become a law. This tax-rate provided for all the appropriations passed by the Legislature. After the tax-rate had been fixed, with the approval of the Governor—after it was known to him and every member of the Legislature that it would require the collection of over $12,000,000 from the people, he cut out something over $1,800,000 from the appropriations, the effect of which will be to create a useless and badly exposed surplus in the Treasury.

The idea, excellent as it is, is not original with Mr. Sloan. As early as July 26th THE FREEMAN said in its leading editorial of that day:

> The $1,808,550 will not be saved to the tax-payers. It is in the tax levy and will be collected and turned into the treasury, every dollar of it. If the Governor had really wished to relieve the farmers and other tax-payers of the state, he would have vetoed this tax-levy and told the Legislature to make it $1,800,000 or $2,000,000 less. Then he could have cut out enough items from appropriations to make things even, and there would have been real relief.

On the 12th of August THE FREEMAN reverted to the subject again, in answer to a statement by the Brooklyn Eagle that the tax bill was prepared on the night before adjournment. Here is a part of what this paper said at that date:

> The Governor at this time had all the appropriations before him. It is fair to presume that he had a general idea of the amount that he intended to cut out. If he had vetoed the bill in a message to the Legislature, informing it of his intentions in regard to certain items, and giving it an approximate idea of the amount that it would be necessary to raise, he could have saved to the tax-payers the $1,800,000 that must now remain in the Treasury a year as surplusage, subject to demands which do not always wait for the action of the Legislature, as the history of the furnishing of the executive mansion proves. In the same message he could have called the Legislature into extra session long enough to revise the tax-rate without involving the state in large expense, for the members were all in Albany and could have assembled and transacted the necessary business in half a day. In this way the Governor could have commended himself to the tax-payers as a sincere friend of their interests, for the items that he has vetoed would then have been left in their pockets. Now the full amount will be collected, and the people are uneasy over the possibility of its being misappropriated, squandered and stolen.

It is to the credit of Senator Sloan that he is a faithful reader of THE FREEMAN. He was wise in preserving this important point to be presented to the state convention, whence it will be carried broadcast to all the tax-payers of the state. If Gov. Hill had had an honest purpose in view, he would have said to the Legislature: "This tax is more than the people can bear; put your tax rate where it was last year, and I will shape the appropriations to meet it." It could all have been done in half a day if he had found it necessary to call the Legislature into extra session. And there would not then have been left in the treasury a surplus of the people's money for Democratic manipulation.

It is this fact that causes popular anxiety. The people would not object seriously to the extra taxation if it were allowed to go to the payment of honest debts as the Legislature intended, and which debts must be paid sooner or later with accumulated interest and some with costs of litigation. Neither would they feel that there was any great wrong in the matter if they felt sure that the money would be safe till the Legislature meets again, and thus be used to reduce their taxes another year. But the whole history of the Democratic party proves that it is not a safe and honest custodian of the people's money. During Hoffman's administration $15,000,000 raised for the payment of the bounty debt was devoted to purposes wholly partisan or personal by Democratic officials and never accounted for. Two years ago Gov. Hill took $17,000 appropriated for other objects and filled the executive mansion with needless and costly articles of luxury and amusement. And last year Comptroller Wemple allowed Snaith, the ceiling contractor, to overdraw his account $15,000. Gov. Hill has not saved any money to the people by his vetoes, but he has given the Democratic gang at the Capitol a big opportunity to steal—an opportunity, by the way, that was never yet neglected.

A HARD NUT TO CRACK.

How the Governor Might Have Relieved the Taxpayers, but Didn't.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Senator Sloan, in his address on taking the chair of the Saratoga Convention, framed a crushing indictment of the policy which Governor Hill pursued in reference to the appropriations passed by the last Legislature. No person was better qualified to expose the Governor's false pretenses than Mr. Sloan. He is known all over the state as one of New York's most sagacious and successful business men. In political circles he is rated as one of the most unselfish and trustworthy lawmakers ever sent to Albany. As chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate of 1888-'89 it became his duty to play a prominent part in shaping fiscal measures and seeing them safely through the two houses.

It is this sagacious and faithful legislator, whose vote and influence are always found on the right side, who contends that the Governor's economy in public affairs is of the bogus order. The facts which he marshaled to substantiate this charge cannot be put aside. We advise our Democratic friends in newspaper offices or on the stump not to fool with them, for they are loaded. The point which the Senator made in reference to the Governor's failure to veto the entire supply bill was particularly forcible. Every Democratic organ is engaged these days in printing in big black type the sum total of the items which the Governor killed. Consequently, they are pointing to these figures and remarking to their readers: "You see, Hill's vetoes amount in all to $1,808,550—doesn't that prove that he is a thorough-going economist, an ardent friend of the tax-payers?" Senator Sloan neatly pricks this bubble. Mark how he does it. The tax rate for the year was fixed before the Governor passed upon the Supply bill, so that no matter what he might do with the items of that bill, whether he vetoed them all or approved them all, the rate could not be in the least altered. If the Governor was sincere and earnest in his professions of distinguished consideration for the taxpayers, why did he not veto the Supply bill in its entirety, and then reconvene the Legislature, so as to afford it an opportunity of examining the measure in the light of the vetoes? If the items to which he objected or any of them had been erased the tax rate could have been proportionately reduced. Why did the Governor prevent such a revision? Simbly because, regarded as an economist, he is a fraud. He did not care a straw about bringing down the tax rate. All he desired was to furnish his partisans with some figures which they could juggle with.

Of course this Democratic Hill-and-economy game would not be played so assiduously were it not that the party finds itself this fall destitute of campaign ammunition. "Any port in a storm" is the cry of the Democratic managers. Realizing that they cannot go before the people on the party's record, they have apparently resolved to ignore the record and rely upon false pretenses—and the rum power.

TABOR AND HILL.

A Warning to the Governor Against Renominating an Incompetent and Unfaithful Official.

[From the New York Herald.]

If Governor Hill continues to push the claims of Attorney General Tabor to a renomination, then Governor Hill should be plainly told by the people of this state that they are tired of having their welfare sacrificed in the game of politics.

Governor Hill is the servant, not the master of the people. If he fails to protect them he should be indignantly reprimanded, and if he persists, as he is now doing, he should be told that when his term expires he can trim his lamp to shine in private life.

Tabor wants to continue in office. He looks to Hill for protection and favor. Tabor should be dropped without a moment's debate. He is wholly unfit to be Attorney-General in a state like New York. If he has legal ability he has not used it and should therefore be dropped: if he has no ability, then also he should be dropped.

His conduct in this ceiling scandal is an insult to every right minded man. He had jurisdiction over that infamous contract and he must have known that it covered a steal. He pronounced it all right, and the steal went on.

When public clamor called for justice, Tabor kept still, thinking the storm would blow over and his friends get off scot free. The storm did not blow over, and Tabor saw that his renomination was in peril. The people's interest might go to Ballyhack, but when his own interests were at stake he jumped to the front and proposed to prosecute everybody.

Humbug! Trickery. Tabor. You played the people for fools, and now want them to give you their votes.

Come, Governor Hill, drop that man at once. We don't want any such Attorney General as Tabor. He leans too much toward the gang of thieves. And, Governor, let us whisper in your ear that it is not prudent to insist on having that man on the state ticket.

Not prudent, Governor Hill.

CURRENT HUMOR.

This passage is said to be literatim from the gory Western drama called "Black Hawk." It is called forth by a bar-keeper's refusal to supply the Montana Terror with free alcohol: "You don't know me? You don't know me, I say! I'm Bloody Bill, the Howling Terror! I'm a greased thunderbolt from Hell's Canyon! When I twitter the clouds hide themselves! When I yell the rocks split, the waters stop running and the sun turns back. When I shriek 'Y-e-i-o-u-w,' it rains b-l-u-d!".

Alfred (reading from the latest romance)—"He seized her in his hands and kissed her with frantic abandon. She shivered and writhed in his close embrace, and her breath came in quick knickerbockers. Her eyes—"

Angelina—"One moment please. Knickerbockers?"

Alfred—"A little emendation of my own. The text says, 'Her breath came in quick, short pants.'"

Ethel—"Do you think he loves you, Nellie?"

Nellie—"Oh, I'm certain of it. Why, he wants to marry me so much that he has borrowed money from papa for us to get married on—a thing his proud, sensitive soul could not brook if he did not love me."

He Needed the Nickel—"Please give a poor man 5 cents."

"I'll warrant you'll spend it for liquor."

"Yes, sir, I will. I want to buy a Chicago cocktail."

"Good gracious! That drink cost $2.

"I know it I've got $1.95.

"Sergeant, put Fusilier Greengrass on bread and water for three days, for slackness at drill." "Pardon Captain, he won't mind that; he is a vegetarian." "Then give him blood sausage for three days instead."

SKIN CANCER.

Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound and well. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison.

CANCER OF THE TONGUE.

For three or four years I had an eating sore on my tongue that made a considerable hole in it. I became alarmed at its progress, and went to Atlanta for treatment. The result was that I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and the sore was soon gone, without a trace of it left. A. LEWIS,

GENERAL NEWS MATTER.

BY CABLE, TELEGRAPH AND MAIL TO "THE FREEMAN."

A Volcano Causes Consternation in Mexico—Testing One of the Laws of Tennessee—The Action of a Common Council and the Exemption of Certain Industries, Etc.

The platform of the Massachusetts Republicans contains the following: "We wish to commend the policy of the President in regard to civil-service reform as shown by his adherence to the law, by his extending its provisions to a large branch of the public service, and by the character of the Commission which he has selected to carry out the law both in letter and spirit. We assure him that in every effort to extend the law regulating the civil service and to root out the evil of patronage from our politics he and his Commissioners will receive the hearty support of the Republicans of Massachusetts and of her Representatives and Senators. To our Senators and Representatives in Congress we would say that the Republicans of Massachusetts look to them to defend a sound currency and resist an increase of the present silver coinage; to use every exertion to bring about a reduction of the surplus revenue; to support a thorough and equitable revision of the tariff so as to adapt the protection which it affords to changed business conditions affecting New-England industries in common with those of the rest of the country; to maintain the American system of protection to American industry and labor with which the party marched to victory at the last election, and which is identified with every period of our National prosperity; to strive without ceasing to secure a National election law which shall give protection to the National ballot and to the citizen in casting it; to continue the just and liberal policy of the Government towards the soldiers and sailors who defended it; to give aid to our steamship lines and begin the building up of our merchant marine, and to vote for and support ample appropriations for the American Navy, so that we may secure at once a powerful fleet, able to defend the American coast and the American flag, and to be a guarantee of peace with all the world."

The elections in Brazil are reported to have given a decided majority to the party of progress, who are in sympathy with the ideas of Dom Pedro as to slavery and other matters. This indicates a great change of feeling in the country, as for many years past the imperial policy of emancipation has been carried forward in spite of a majority of representatives of the planting interest in the Imperial Parliament. Indeed the liberation of the Brazilian slaves may be said to have been the work of one man, who at least finds the nation on his side, after living down more obloquy than usually falls to a monarch.

The confidence operators who swindled Farmer Frederick Gleim, of Streator, Ill., out of $5,000, were brought to Ottawa, Ill., from La Porte, Ind., and landed in jail Wednesday. Four hundred and sixty dollars were found in a seam at the bottom of one of the prisoner's pantaloons. There is no doubt that the two men are noted confidence men, as they are wanted from Boston to Missouri.

The burglary season in Philadelphia seems to have proved a failure. According to the report of the police department, there were about 9,000 houses in that City left unoccupied by the owners during the summer. Of these, 11 were entered by thieves, who succeeded in taking goods away in nine cases. In every instance the thieves were captured and convicted and the goods recovered.

The body of Richard Maybury, shockingly disfigured, was found on Wednesday night under the ruins caused by the recent landslide at Quebec. The remains were interred yesterday with military honors. SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

SOME INTERESTING NOTE AND COMMENT FOR "FREEMAN" READERS.

Machines for Navigating the Air May be Divided Into Three Classes—Measurements of an Ordinary Hair—A Remarkable Air Wave That Has Attracted Attention, Etc.

Machines for navigating the air may be divided into three classes—flying machines without gas-bags; ordinary balloons propelled by the wind alone; and air-ships of gas-envelope and car containing propelling machinery. The idea of combining the flying with the balloon, affirms J. E. Watkins, contains, in the opinion of modern aeronauts, the one element of hope, for the future for successfully navigating the atmosphere. To meet the views of this author the practical air ship must be substantially constructed, must be provided with life boats and parachutes, must have light and powerful engines with a reserve set for accident, must have ample generators for making gas en route, must have a rigid gas-envelope of a form to offer the least resistance to head-winds, must be air and moisture tight and little affected by heat and cold, and must be divided into compartments so that an accident would liberate only a portion of the gas. Such an air-ship could scarcely compete with railways and steamships on short lines, and the dreams of the most enthusiastic aeronauts have led them only to hope for an arrangement for rapidly passing over long distances. On local lines of 100 miles or less in length, however, some system of electric air-ship sliding at a height of 50 to 100 feet along a double track of guiding wires might be devised, and would offer many advantages in thickly populated districts.

An ordinary hair is about one-500th of an inch in diameter. In his delicate measuring instruments C. V. Boys, F. R. S., has made use of quartz fibres from one-5,000th to one-10,000th of an inch in diameter, supporting weights of 30 grains. In his experiments quartz fibres much finer than this were drawn out by means of an arrow from a cross-bow, and the diameter of some being estimated less than one-1,000,000th of an inch. Such threads are, of course, invisible, and are recommended as a test for microscopes to give an idea of such a degree of minuteness. Mr. Boys remarks that a piece of quartz an inch long and an inch in diameter would, if drawn out to this fineness, be sufficient to go all the way round the world 658 times; or a grain of sand just visible—that is, one hundredth of an inch in diameter—would make 1,000 miles of such thread.

A remarkable air-wave of January 31 has attracted much attention from meteorologists, who are still unable to explain the phenomenon. At several stations in Central Europe the barometer recorded a sudden dip of about four hundredths of an inch, followed by a corresponding rise a few minutes later. Dr. E. Herrmann has traced the disturbance from Pola to Keitum, separated by about five degrees of latitude, the rate of translation between these places having been about 71 miles an hour. In an easterly and westerly direction the disturbance was confined to narrow limits. There was no earthquake in Europe.

Agricultural Briefs.

It is officially stated by the American Cranberry-Growers' Association that the cranberry crop of New-Jersey shows a shortage of 40 per cent.; New-England States give a shortage of 22½ per cent., while reports from the West show a shortage of 37½ per cent. Under these reports the shortage will aggregate about 187,000 bushels. In 1888 the crop was estimated at 585,000 bushels, of which New-England was credited with producing 260,000 bushels, New-Jersey 225,000 and the West 100,000 bushels.

The general condition of oats, according to the report of the National Department, is 90; of rye, 91.6; of barley, 88.9; of buckwheat, 92.1; of tobacco, 76.2.

NO HUMAN BEING

This edition is carefully printed, on good paper, from new plates, in leaded nonpareil type. In form it is a reproduction of the famous "Plum Pudding" edition that sold for $50.00.

The size of the page of type is 4x6¼ inches; the outside measurement 5x7½ inches, making a neat pocket volume.

The fifteen volumes contain 5,200 pages, and average about 350 pages each.

The binding is wire stretching of the best quality, and a far superior to that of 50 cent books. If they were sold for $1.00 each, this work could not be better done. The covers are paper, of neat design.

There is nothing common about these books. The very cheapest of the cheap library editions costs five times the price and cannot be compared with this.

No one who sees them can credit the statement that they cost only $1.00, or understand how they can be sold at that price.

SKIN CANCER.

Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound and well. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison. WM. E. STAGG, M. D.

CANCER OF THE TONGUE.

For three or four years I had an eating sore on my tongue that made a considerable hole in it. I became alarmed at its progress, and went to Atlanta for treatment. The result was that I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and the sore was soon gone, without a trace of it left. A. LEWIS,

GENERAL NEWS MATTER.

BY CABLE, TELEGRAPH AND MAIL TO "THE FREEMAN."

A Volcano Causes Consternation in Mexico —Testing One of the Laws of Tennessee—The Action of a Common Council and the Exemption of Certain Industries, Etc.

The platform of the Massachusetts Republicans contains the following: "We wish to commend the policy of the President in regard to civil-service reform as shown by his adherence to the law, by his extending its provisions to a large branch of the public service, and by the character of the Commission which he has selected to carry out the law both in letter and spirit. We assure him that in every effort to extend the law regulating the civil service and to root out the evil of patronage from our politics he and his Commissioners will receive the hearty support of the Republicans of Massachusetts and of her Representatives and Senators. To our Senators and Representatives in Congress we would say that the Republicans of Massachusetts look to them to defend a sound currency and resist an increase of the present silver coinage; to use every exertion to bring about a reduction of the surplus revenue; to support a thorough and equitable revision of the tariff so as to adapt the protection which it affords to changed business conditions affecting New-England industries in common with those of the rest of the country; to maintain the American system of protection to American industry and labor with which the party marched to victory at the last election, and which is identified with every period of our National prosperity; to strive without ceasing to secure a National election law which shall give protection to the National ballot and to the citizen in casting it; to continue the just and liberal policy of the Government towards the soldiers and sailors who defended it; to give aid to our steamship lines and begin the building up of our merchant marine, and to vote for and support ample appropriations for the American Navy, so that we may secure at once a powerful fleet, able to defend the American coast and the American flag, and to be a guarantee of peace with all the world."

The elections in Brazil are reported to have given a decided majority to the party of progress, who are in sympathy with the ideas of Dom Pedro as to slavery and other matters. This indicates a great change of feeling in the country, as for many years past the imperial policy of emancipation has been carried forward in spite of a majority of representatives of the planting interest in the Imperial Parliament. Indeed the liberation of the Brazilian slaves may be said to have been the work of one man, who at least finds the nation on his side, after living down more obloquy than usually falls to a monarch.

The confidence operators who swindled Farmer Frederick Gleim, of Streator, Ill., out of $5,000, were brought to Ottawa, Ill., from La Porte, Ind., and landed in jail Wednesday. Four hundred and sixty dollars were found in a seam at the bottom of one of the prisoner's pantaloons. There is no doubt that the two men are noted confidence men, as they are wanted from Boston to Missouri.

The burglary season in Philadelphia seems to have proved a failure. According to the report of the police department, there were about 9,000 houses in that City left unoccupied by the owners during the summer. Of these, 11 were entered by thieves, who succeeded in taking goods away in nine cases. In every instance the thieves were captured and convicted and the goods recovered.

The body of Richard Maybury, shockingly disfigured, was found on Wednesday night under the ruins caused by the recent landslide at Quebec. The remains were interred yesterday with military honors. The number of bodies recovered to date is 44, and one, that of Young Pemberton, is still buried under the debris. The 14 wounded victims are in a fair way for recovery.

At yesterday's session of the Tri-Synodic Board of Missions of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Pa., the Rev. D. B. Shuey was continued as Superintendent of Missions within the bounds of the Synod of the Interior, covering Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. An apportionment of $24,000 for missions and $5,000 for church building was divided among the Synods.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning the Laflin & Rand powder mill at Cressona, three miles below Pottsville, Pa., blew up. The explosion was terrific in force. William Schropp, Samuel Stotef and Henry Reed were killed and a number of other workmen injured. Nearly all the window glass in Cressona was shattered, and the concussion was sensibly felt in Pottsville.

The Mulattos mining district in Sonora, Mexico, has been sold to Hayward and Mobart, mining millionaires at San Francisco, who paid nearly $2,000,000 for the property which includes half a score of rich but imperfectly developed mines. The purchasers propose to put in an improved plant. This is the biggest mining transaction recorded there for years.

At the foot of Sand Mountain, Alabama, there is a large box bearing the inscription: "Drop a coin in the slot and draw out whiskey at the rate of $2 a gallon." This automatic bar is known as "a blind tiger." The man who was arraigned for running this box bar-room escaped conviction, as it was impossible to prove his ownership.

An extensive strike of dock laborers has been begun at Rotterdam. The strikers demand an increase of 25 per cent. and a higher rate for overtime. The strike began by 2,000 lightermen stopping work. Later the strike became general. The Socialists have promised to assist the strikers. So far there has been no serious disorder.

The shad of the Upper Delaware waters have been noted for a century for their size and flavor. The Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's dam at Lackawaxen having cut them off from migration to their natural spawning grounds above, fish-ways are being constructed to allow them to get up.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

SOME INTERESTING NOTE AND COMMENT FOR "FREEMAN" READERS.

Machines for Navigating the Air May be Divided Into Three Classes—Measurements of an Ordinary Hair—A Remarkable Air Wave That Has Attracted Attention, Etc.

Machines for navigating the air may be divided into three classes—flying machines without gas-bags; ordinary balloons propelled by the wind alone; and air-ships of gas-envelope and car containing propelling machinery. The idea of combining the flying with the balloon, affirms J. E. Watkins, contains, in the opinion of modern aeronauts, the one element of hope, for the future for successfully navigating the atmosphere. To meet the views of this author the practical air ship must be substantially constructed, must be provided with life boats and parachutes, must have light and powerful engines with a reserve set for accident, must have ample generators for making gas en route, must have a rigid gas-envelope of a form to offer the least resistance to head-winds, must be air and moisture tight and little affected by heat and cold, and must be divided into compartments so that an accident would liberate only a portion of the gas. Such an air-ship could scarcely compete with railways and steamships on short lines, and the dreams of the most enthusiastic aeronauts have led them only to hope for an arrangement for rapidly passing over long distances. On local lines of 100 miles or less in length, however, some system of electric air-ship sliding at a height of 50 to 100 feet along a double track of guiding wires might be devised, and would offer many advantages in thickly populated districts.

An ordinary hair is about one-500th of an inch in diameter. In his delicate measuring instruments C. V. Boys, F. R. S., has made use of quartz fibres from one-5,000th to one-10,000th of an inch in diameter, supporting weights of 30 grains. In his experiments quartz fibres much finer than this were drawn out by means of an arrow from a cross-bow, and the diameter of some being estimated less than one-1,000,000th of an inch. Such threads are, of course, invisible, and are recommended as a test for microscopes to give an idea of such a degree of minuteness. Mr. Boys remarks that a piece of quartz an inch long and an inch in diameter would, if drawn out to this fineness, be sufficient to go all the way round the world 658 times; or a grain of sand just visible—that is, one hundredth of an inch in diameter—would make 1,000 miles of such thread.

A remarkable air-wave of January 31 has attracted much attention from meteorologists, who are still unable to explain the phenomenon. At several stations in Central Europe the barometer recorded a sudden dip of about four hundredths of an inch, followed by a corresponding rise a few minutes later. Dr. E. Herrmann has traced the disturbance from Pola to Keitum, separated by about five degrees of latitude, the rate of translation between these places having been about 71 miles an hour. In an easterly and westerly direction the disturbance was confined to narrow limits. There was no earthquake in Europe.

Agricultural Briefs.

It is officially stated by the American Cranberry-Growers' Association that the cranberry crop of New-Jersey shows a shortage of 40 per cent.; New-England States give a shortage of 22½ per cent., while reports from the West show a shortage of 37½ per cent. Under these reports the shortage will aggregate about 187,000 bushels. In 1888 the crop was estimated at 585,000 bushels, of which New-England was credited with producing 260,000 bushels, New-Jersey 225,000 and the West 100,000 bushels.

The Statistician of the Agricultural Department at Washington places the general average of corn at 91; winter wheat, 89.4; spring wheat, 83.9; or a general average of all wheat 87.6.

The general condition of oats, according to the report of the National Department, is 90; of rye, 91.6; of barley, 88.9; of buckwheat, 92.1; of tobacco, 76.2.

The Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture reports for the Bay State about half a crop of winter apples of rather poor quality.

The New-Jersey Horticultural Society will hold its annual chrysanthemum show at Orange, November 12 and 14.

The majority of American florists voted in favor of the golden rod as a National flower at the Buffalo Convention.

The Government report for September places the general condition of cotton at 86.6.

SKIN CANCER.

Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment, and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer, but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound and well. That was three years ago,and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison. WM. E. STAGG, M. D.

CANCER OF THE TONGUE.

For three or four years I had an eating sore on my tongue that made a considerable hole in it. I became alarmed at its progress, and went to Atlanta for treatment. The result was that I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and the sore was soon gone, without a trace of it left. A. LEWIS,

GENERAL NEWS MATTER.

BY CABLE, TELEGRAPH AND MAIL TO "THE FREEMAN."

A Volcano Causes Consternation in Mexico—Testing One of the Laws of Tennessee—The Action of a Common Council and the Exemption of Certain Industries, Etc.

The platform of the Massachusetts Republicans contains the following: "We wish to commend the policy of the President in regard to civil-service reform as shown by his adherence to the law, by his extending its provisions to a large branch of the public service, and by the character of the Commission which he has selected to carry out the law both in letter and spirit. We assure him that in every effort to extend the law regulating the civil service and to root out the evil of patronage from our politics he and his Commissioners will receive the hearty support of the Republicans of Massachusetts and of her Representatives and Senators. To our Senators and Representatives in Congress we would say that the Republicans of Massachusetts look to them to defend a sound currency and resist an increase of the present silver coinage; to use every exertion to bring about a reduction of the surplus revenue; to support a thorough and equitable revision of the tariff so as to adapt the protection which it affords to changed business conditions affecting New-England industries in common with those of the rest of the country; to maintain the American system of protection to American industry and labor with which the party marched to victory at the last election, and which is identified with every period of our National prosperity; to strive without ceasing to secure a National election law which shall give protection to the National ballot and to the citizen in casting it; to continue the just and liberal policy of the Government towards the soldiers and sailors who defended it; to give aid to our steamship lines and begin the building up of our merchant marine, and to vote for and support ample appropriations for the American Navy, so that we may secure at once a powerful fleet, able to defend the American coast and the American flag, and to be a guarantee of peace with all the world."

The elections in Brazil are reported to have given a decided majority to the party of progress, who are in sympathy with the ideas of Dom Pedro as to slavery and other matters. This indicates a great change of feeling in the country, as for many years past the imperial policy of emancipation has been carried forward in spite of a majority of representatives of the planting interest in the Imperial Parliament. Indeed the liberation of the Brazilian slaves may be said to have been the work of one man, who at least finds the nation on his side, after living down more obloquy than usually falls to a monarch.

The confidence operators who swindled Farmer Frederick Gleim, of Streator, Ill., out of $5,000, were brought to Ottawa, Ill., from La Porte, Ind., and landed in jail Wednesday. Four hundred and sixty dollars were found in a seam at the bottom of one of the prisoner's pantaloons. There is no doubt that the two men are noted confidence men, as they are wanted from Boston to Missouri.

The burglary season in Philadelphia seems to have proved a failure. According to the report of the police department, there were about 9,000 houses in that City left unoccupied by the owners during the summer. Of these, 11 were entered by thieves, who succeeded in taking goods away in nine cases. In every instance the thieves were captured and convicted and the goods recovered.

The body of Richard Maybury, shockingly disfigured, was found on Wednesday night under the ruins caused by the recent landslide at Quebec. The remains were interred yesterday with military honours. SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

SOME INTERESTING NOTE AND COMMENT FOR "FREEMAN" READERS.

Machines for Navigating the Air May be Divided Into Three Classes—Measurements of an Ordinary Hair—A Remarkable Air Wave That Has Attracted Attention, Etc.

Machines for navigating the air may be divided into three classes–flying machines without gas-bags; ordinary balloons propelled by the wind alone; and air-ships of gas-envelope and car containing propelling machinery. The idea of combining the flying with the balloon, affirms J. E. Watkins, contains, in the opinion of modern aeronauts, the one element of hope, for the future for successfully navigating the atmosphere. To meet the views of this author the practical air ship must be substantially constructed, must be provided with life boats and parachutes, must have light and powerful engines with a reserve set for accident, must have ample generators for making gas en route, must have a rigid gas-envelope of a form to offer the least resistance to head-winds, must be air and moisture tight and little affected by heat and cold, and must be divided into compartments so that an accident would liberate only a portion of the gas. Such an air-ship could scarcely compete with railways and steamships on short lines, and the dreams of the most enthusiastic aeronauts have led them only to hope for an arrangement for rapidly passing over long distances. On local lines of 100 miles or less in length, however, some system of electric air-ship sliding at a height of 50 to 100 feet along a double track of guiding wires might be devised, and would offer many advantages in thickly populated districts.

An ordinary hair is about one-500th of an inch in diameter. In his delicate measuring instruments C. V. Boys, F. R. S., has made use of quartz fibres from one-5,000th to one-10,000th of an inch in diameter, supporting weights of 30 grains. In his experiments quartz fibres much finer than this were drawn out by means of an arrow from a cross-bow, and the diameter of some being estimated less than one-1,000,000th of an inch. Such threads are, of course, invisible, and are recommended as a test for microscopes to give an idea of such a degree of minuteness. Mr. Boys remarks that a piece of quartz an inch long and an inch in diameter would, if drawn out to this fineness, be sufficient to go all the way round the world 658 times; or a grain of sand just visible—that is, one hundredth of an inch in diameter--would make 1,000 miles of such thread.

A remarkable air-wave of January 31 has attracted much attention from meteorologists, who are still unable to explain the phenomenon. At several stations in Central Europe the barometer recorded a sudden dip of about four hundredths of an inch, followed by a corresponding rise a few minutes later. Dr. E. Herrmann has traced the disturbance from Pola to Keitum, separated by about five degrees of latitude, the rate of translation between these places having been about 71 miles an hour. In an easterly and westerly direction the disturbance was confined to narrow limits. There was no earthquake in Europe.

Agricultural Briefs.

It is officially stated by the American Cranberry-Growers' Association that the cranberry crop of New-Jersey shows a shortage of 40 per cent.; New-England States give a shortage of 22½ per cent., while reports from the West show a shortage of 37½ per cent. Under these reports the shortage will aggregate about 187,000 bushels. In 1888 the crop was estimated at 585,000 bushels, of which New-England was credited with producing 260,000 bushels, New-Jersey 225,000 and the West 100,000 bushels.

The general condition of oats, according to the report of the National Department, is 90; of rye, 91. 6; of barley, 88.9; of buckwheat, 92.1; of tobacco, 76.2.

CITY HAPPENINGS AND CHAT.

BITS OF NEWS, STORIES AND SOME HUMOR AND GOSSIP.

Justice Meted Out Rapidly—The Old Senate House Association—Hotel and Saloon Men Who Are Reported to be in Favor of High License—Some Deductions.

The full dress drill and promenade concert given by the members of the Fourteenth Separate Company last night attracted a large number of people to the Armory. The presence of many of the lady friends of the militiamen added a charm to the scene, and the feminine applause which greeted the "soldier boys" as they performed intricate and skillful military evolutions was a pleasant reward for their best endeavors. Goeller's Orchestra furnished music for the merry dancers, and it was midnight when "Home Sweet Home" was played.

An ear of corn, beautiful in itself, may be utilized for decorative purposes as follows: "Choose a large, well-ripened ear, lift the husk from the corn without entirely removing it and pull off the silk, then braid the leaves of the husk at the top and fasten in a loop by which to hang up the ear, or a part of the leaves may be trimmed off to show some of the grain. When the ear of corn is dry paint it with liquid gold or silver, covering the whole husk and ear, and attach one of the tiny thermometers that are used for such purposes and ornament with a pretty ribbon bow."

A boy about 16 years of age attracted a crowd around him this forenoon on Union-avenue by eating a portion of a lamp chimney. He said that for a long time he had eaten two chimneys a day in a Boston Museum. Assemblyman Jacob Rice told the boy that if he ate pie instead of glass he would not be so thin.

The question whether or not the Constables have the right to arrest a peddler who sells without a license, if he be a resident of this City, has been settled by the Corporation Counsel, who gives it as his opinion that the ordinance relating to the matter excepts no one.

A wise man has said there is nothing like a good reputation. If a man gains a reputation for doing anything well, his work will be thought more of than of others who have no reputation, even if their work is better than his.

The members of the Old Senate House Association will meet at the Supreme Court Chambers in the Ulster County Court House on Tuesday evening, October 1. Officers will be elected.

He was sentenced to imprisonment for 10 years and two months at Dannemora, and the indictment to which he pleaded not guilty will remain in force, so he can be tried upon it at the expiration of his sentence.

A DOUBLE RUNAWAY THIS FORENOON.

One Horse Causes Another to Bolt—Some Havoc Wrought.

This forenoon a horse, in charge of a boy named Mack, ran away on Meadow-street. The noise frightened a horse owned by P. C. Fitzgerald, and that too started away at a lively gait. The latter nag was caught before it had gone far. The Mack animal continued its flight. The wagon behind it collided with a rig owned by J. W. Pratt, of High Falls. Two wheels of the High Falls vehicle were "dished" and a box of eggs smashed. The driver was thrown in the mud. After ripping off several boards on George Weber's fence the animal was caught. While the High Falls man was endeavoring to ascertain the name of the owner of the horse that caused such havoc, hoodlums clustered around his wagon and stole nearly all his apples.

SOME FISH AND "POT" FISHERMEN.

Residents of the Upper Portion of the City Who Defy the Law.

Upon several occasions Uptown residents have exploded dynamite cartridges in the Esopus Creek for the purpose of killing fish. Expectations of Growers Have Not Been Realized—Peaches Have Proved a Remunerative Crop—Some Fine Fruit Will Be Shipped in October.

The expectations of Concord grape-growers along the Hudson Valley of marketing one of the finest crops ever grown have not been realized. Mildew and rot did considerable damage in a score or more localities in the early portion of the season, but the most havoc has been wrought by the severe storms which have followed one another in rapid succession this month. Rain has fallen in torrents, in instances accompanied by hail storms and high winds.

From returns received to-day it appears that owners of vineyards along the valleys of the Wallkill and Rondout have been the heaviest losers. Tons of Concords have been ruined here and there so badly that the fruit will not be picked. Where the damage inflicted is not so great agents of wine-making houses in New-York City and elsewhere have been making heavy purchases. The prices paid range from $18 to $40 per ton. At the highest figure this only gives the producer two cents per pound. Along the Hudson River between Cornwall and Catskill and between Fishkill and Germantown a number of vineyardists have done fairly well.

The peach crop also has been injured by the storms, yet much of the fruit still to be shipped is exceptionally fine. The prevailing price at wholesale is from $1 to $1.75 per half bushel basket. The prices for October fruit will be much higher. In its entirety the yield has been a remerative one to the growers.

The apple crop is short, and in many localities in point of quality it does not amount to very much.

AFFAIRS OF VICINITY RAILROADS.

Building New Roads on Paper—Dispensing With Bell Cord System of Signaling.

By a recent invention the bell-cord system of signals on railroad trains will be dispensed with. The new invention consists of a special pipe line from the locomotive running through the train beneath the cars from the compressed air cylinder under the engine. The pipe line is connected in each car by a push button, which, when operated, will cause a small whistle to blow in the locomotive cab. The first train on which the new system will be adopted will be one on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad.

There is much talk of railroad-building in Sullivan County by people interested in summer resorts. It is not probable, however, that many of the paper roads will be built during the next decade.

Of the 12 railroads in Orange County only two are of any benefit to the City of Newburgh.

The West Shore proposes to build a short branch from Albany to Fuller's.

Justice Meted Out Rapidly—The Old Senate House Association—Hotel and Saloon Men Who Are Reported to be in Favor of High License—Some Deductions.

The full dress drill and promenade concert given by the members of the Fourteenth Separate Company last night attracted a large number of people to the Armory. The presence of many of the lady friends of the militiamen added a charm to the scene, and the feminine applause which greeted the "soldier boys" as they performed intricate and skillful military evolutions was a pleasant reward for their best endeavors. Goeller's Orchestra furnished music for the merry dancers, and it was midnight when "Home Sweet Home" was played.

An ear of corn, beautiful in itself, may be utilized for decorative purposes as follows: "Choose a large, well-ripened ear, lift the husk from the corn without entirely removing it and pull off the silk, then braid the leaves of the husk at the top and fasten in a loop by which to hang up the ear, or a part of the leaves may be trimmed off to show some of the grain. When the ear of corn is dry paint it with liquid gold or silver, covering the whole husk and ear, and attach one of the tiny thermometers that are used for such purposes and ornament with a pretty ribbon bow."

A boy about 16 years of age attracted a crowd around him this forenoon on Union-avenue by eating a portion of a lamp chimney. He said that for a long time he had eaten two chimneys a day in a Boston Museum. Assemblyman Jacob Rice told the boy that if he ate pie instead of glass he would not be so thin.

A DOUBLE RUNAWAY THIS FORENOON.

One Horse Causes Another to Bolt—Some Havoc Wrought.

This forenoon a horse, in charge of a boy named Mack, ran away on Meadow-street. The noise frightened a horse owned by P. C. Fitzgerald, and that too started away at a lively gait. The latter nag was caught before it had gone far. The Mack animal continued its flight. The wagon behind it collided with a rig owned by J. W. Pratt, of High Falls. Two wheels of the High Falls vehicle were "dished" and a box of eggs smashed. The driver was thrown in the mud. After ripping off several boards on George Weber's fence the animal was caught. While the High Falls man was endeavoring to ascertain the name of the owner of the horse that caused such havoc, hoodlums clustered around his wagon and stole nearly all his apples.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock to-day Saul Hoffman, a freight brakeman on the Wallkill Valley Railroad, fell off the pilot of an engine at New-Paltz and was run over. His right leg was cut off above the knee. The engine was switching cars. Dr. E. J. Palmer, of New-Paltz, accompanied the injured man to this City, where he was transferred to a West Shore car on a stretcher and in the care of Dr. A. Stern was taken to a hospital in Albany. Hoffman is an unmarried man and formerly lived in Port-Jervis. He boarded on Cedar-street.

CONCORD GRAPES INJURED

BY SEVERE STORMS THAT HAVE PREVAILED ALONG HUDSON RIVER.

Expectations of Growers Have Not Been Realized—Peaches Have Proved a Remunerative Crop—Some Fine Fruit Will Be Shipped in October.

The expectations of Concord grape-growers along the Hudson Valley of marketing one of the finest crops ever grown have not been realized. Mildew and rot did considerable damage in a score or more localities in the early portion of the season, but the most havoc has been wrought by the severe storms which have followed one another in rapid succession this month. Rain has fallen in torrents, in instances accompanied by hail storms and high winds.

From returns received to-day it appears that owners of vineyards along the valleys of the Wallkill and Rondout have been the heaviest losers. Tons of Concords have been ruined here and there so badly that the fruit will not be picked. Where the damage inflicted is not so great agents of wine-making houses in New-York City and elsewhere have been making heavy purchases. The prices paid range from $18 to $40 per ton. At the highest figure this only gives the producer two cents per pound. Along the Hudson River between Cornwall and Catskill and between Fishkill and Germantown a number of vineyardists have done fairly well.

The peach crop also has been injured by the storms, yet much of the fruit still to be shipped is exceptionally fine. The prevailing price at wholesale is from $1 to $1.75 per half bushel basket. The prices for October fruit will be much higher. In its entirety the yield has been a remerative one to the growers.

The apple crop is short, and in many localities in point of quality it does not amount to very much.

AFFAIRS OF VICINITY RAILROADS.

Building New Roads on Paper—Dispensing With Bell Cord System of Signaling.

By a recent invention the bell-cord system of signals on railroad trains will be dispensed with. The new invention consists of a special pipe line from the locomotive running through the train beneath the cars from the compressed air cylinder under the engine. The pipe line is connected in each car by a push button, which, when operated, will cause a small whistle to blow in the locomotive cab. The first train on which the new system will be adopted will be one on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad.

There is much talk of railroad-building in Sullivan County by people interested in summer resorts. It is not probable, however, that many of the paper roads will be built during the next decade.

Of the 12 railroads in Orange County only two are of any benefit to the City of Newburgh.

The West Shore proposes to build a short branch from Albany to Fuller's.

Justice Meted Out Rapidly—The Old Senate House Association—Hotel and Saloon Men Who Are Reported to be in Favor of High License—Some Deductions.

The full dress drill and promenade concert given by the members of the Fourteenth Separate Company last night attracted a large number of people to the Armory. The presence of many of the lady friends of the militiamen added a charm to the scene, and the feminine applause which greeted the "soldier boys" as they performed intricate and skillful military evolutions was a pleasant reward for their best endeavors. Goeller's Orchestra furnished music for the merry dancers, and it was midnight when "Home Sweet Home" was played.

An ear of corn, beautiful in itself, may be utilized for decorative purposes as follows: "Choose a large, well-ripened ear, lift the husk from the corn without entirely removing it and pull off the silk, then braid the leaves of the husk at the top and fasten in a loop by which to hang up the ear, or a part of the leaves may be trimmed off to show some of the grain. When the ear of corn is dry paint it with liquid gold or silver, covering the whole husk and ear, and attach one of the tiny thermometers that are used for such purposes and ornament with a pretty ribbon bow."

A boy about 16 years of age attracted a crowd around him this forenoon on Union-avenue by eating a portion of a lamp chimney. He said that for a long time he had eaten two chimneys a day in a Boston Museum. Assemblyman Jacob Rice told the boy that if he ate pie instead of glass he would not be so thin.

A case of the most revolting character was that of William Chester, of this City. Chester was indicted for committing rape upon two of his daughters. A DOUBLE RUNAWAY THIS FORENOON.

One Horse Causes Another to Bolt—Some Havoc Wrought.

This forenoon a horse, in charge of a boy named Mack, ran away on Meadow-street. The noise frightened a horse owned by P. C. Fitzgerald, and that too started away at a lively gait. The latter nag was caught before it had gone far. The Mack animal continued its flight. The wagon behind it collided with a rig owned by J. W. Pratt, of High Falls. Two wheels of the High Falls vehicle were "dished" and a box of eggs smashed. The driver was thrown in the mud. After ripping off several boards on George Weber's fence the animal was caught. While the High Falls man was endeavoring to ascertain the name of the owner of the horse that caused such havoc, hoodlums clustered around his wagon and stole nearly all his apples.

SOME FISH AND "POT" FISHERMEN.

Residents of the Upper Portion of the City Who Defy the Law.

Upon several occasions Uptown residents have exploded dynamite cartridges in the Esopus Creek for the purpose of killing fish. In one instance a large number of fish were killed about two miles above the Kingston Bridge. There is a Fish and Game Protective Association in this City and it can show its usefulness by immediately prosecuting these offenders.

S. Camp, of Acra, Greene County, put 250 young German carp in a pond 16 months ago. Some of the fish now weigh three pounds.

Bullheads are "beginning to run" in the Hudson River.

Concerning Firemen.

The members of Wiltwyck Hose Company will make a fine appearance in the Middletown firemen's parade. They will take with them their handsome parade carriage and their hook and ladder truck, which will be drawn by horses.

The members of Rapid Hose Company will make an excellent showing in the Newburgh firemen's parade. They are handsomely uniformed and well drilled in marching.

A picnic will be held by Kingston Hose Company's running team at Barmann's Elysium on Monday afternoon and evening.

The members of Davy Crockett Hook and Ladder Company of Poughkeepsie will leave for Richmond, Va., on Sunday night.

Accident on the Wallkill Valley Railroad.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock to-day Saul Hoffman, a freight brakeman on the Wallkill Valley Railroad, fell off the pilot of an engine at New-Paltz and was run over. His right leg was cut off above the knee. The engine was switching cars. Dr. E. J. Palmer, of New-Paltz, accompanied the injured man to this City, where he was transferred to a West Shore car on a stretcher and in the care of Dr. A. Stern was taken to a hospital in Albany. Hoffman is an unmarried man and formerly lived in Port-Jervis. He boarded on Cedar-street.

Near-By Sporting Matters.

James F. Donoghue and Daniel Carroll, of Newburgh, will engage in a rowing race there to-morrow for a $20 medal. The course is from Long Dock to Sherman's Dock and return.

On Wednesday there will be a horse trot on the Saugerties race course for a purse of $100. One of the horses entered is "Rowdy Boy," owned by H. Rensselaer, of this City.

The regatta of the Albany Yacht Club will be held on October 12. Both steam and sailing yachts will compete.

In Reference to Fairs.

The coming fair of Weiner Hose Company excites interest among the friends of the Company. It will be held in the Academy of Music where there is every facility for making a fine display.

Many attractions have been arranged for the fair of the Kingston Young Men's Christian Association to be held next week.

CONCORD GRAPES INJURED

BY SEVERE STORMS THAT HAVE PREVAILED ALONG HUDSON RIVER.

Expectations of Growers Have Not Been Realized—Peaches Have Proved a Remunerative Crop—Some Fine Fruit Will Be Shipped in October.

The expectations of Concord grape-growers along the Hudson Valley of marketing one of the finest crops ever grown have not been realized. Mildew and rot did considerable damage in a score or more localities in the early portion of the season, but the most havoc has been wrought by the severe storms which have followed one another in rapid succession this month. Rain has fallen in torrents, in instances accompanied by hail storms and high winds.

From returns received to-day it appears that owners of vineyards along the valleys of the Wallkill and Rondout have been the heaviest losers. Tons of Concords have been ruined here and there so badly that the fruit will not be picked. Where the damage inflicted is not so great agents of wine-making houses in New-York City and elsewhere have been making heavy purchases. The prices paid range from $18 to $40 per ton. At the highest figure this only gives the producer two cents per pound. Along the Hudson River between Cornwall and Catskill and between Fishkill and Germantown a number of vineyardists have done fairly well.

The peach crop also has been injured by the storms, yet much of the fruit still to be shipped is exceptionally fine. The prevailing price at wholesale is from $1 to $1.75 per half bushel basket. The prices for October fruit will be much higher. In its entirety the yield has been a remerative one to the growers.

The apple crop is short, and in many localities in point of quality it does not amount to very much.

AFFAIRS OF VICINITY RAILROADS.

Building New Roads on Paper—Dispensing With Bell Cord System of Signaling.

By a recent invention the bell-cord system of signals on railroad trains will be dispensed with. The new invention consists of a special pipe line from the locomotive running through the train beneath the cars from the compressed air cylinder under the engine. The pipe line is connected in each car by a push button, which, when operated, will cause a small whistle to blow in the locomotive cab. The first train on which the new system will be adopted will be one on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad.

There is much talk of railroad-building in Sullivan County by people interested in summer resorts. It is not probable, however, that many of the paper roads will be built during the next decade.

Of the 12 railroads in Orange County only two are of any benefit to the City of Newburgh.

The West Shore proposes to build a short branch from Albany to Fuller's.

Amusement Notes.

The "Si Perkins" Company will be on the boards at Kingston Opera House on October 1. The Richmond Times says:

Frank Jones' domestic play "Si Perkins," by Edwin A. Locke, was presented at the Academy last night to a very good house. Several novelties in stage mechanism were introduced, and the play, somewhat romantic, was interspersed with songs and dances. The tout ensemble pleased the audience, as it was refined throughout and deserves patronage.

This evening Gorman's Minstrels will hold forth at Kingston Opera House. Among the new features to be introduced are the "Golden Shoe Quadrille," "The Princess," "The Irish King," etc. Manager DuBois says a full house is assured. The minstrels paraded this afternoon.
